Innovations in Teaching and Learning for Health Professions Educators Roger Edwards,Bobbie Ann Adair White ,Ardi Findyartini,2025-06-02 The health professions continue to evolve and change rapidly as more opportunities and challenges emerge Hence health professions educators are required to be adaptive and nimble in their creation and adoption of teaching and learning innovations These innovations have included teaching with technologies like virtual reality gamification online applications and artificial intelligence Innovations also include know how such as emotional intelligence and ways of approaching the learning process through student centered learning experiences grounded in the cognitive science of learning Scholarship related to identification of the best uses of different innovations is difficult The same innovations have proven to be engaging in some contexts and burdensome in others Additionally simulation based education continues to incorporate innovations in how health professions educators are taught with more focus on effectiveness of the simulation educator including applications with distance simulation Training and development for health professions and simulation educators is becoming more formalized yet gaps on effectiveness of training and development efforts persist Faculty effectiveness especially as it relates to educational innovation adoption is difficult to measure and demonstration of related competencies is in its infancy The goal of this Research Topic is to bring together state of the art examples of scholarship in health professions education related to the awareness and appropriate adoption of innovation which is broadly defined as an idea practice technology and know how Evidence about the current state of emerging innovations effectiveness of innovations and evidence about the competencies needed for teaching in our evolving environments are all areas of interest for this collection. All types of scholarship can support this focus including analyses based on primary quantitative and qualitative data collection, secondary data analyses, literature reviews, and methodological infrastructure tool development. Additionally, scholarship investigating how these innovations have influenced health professions educators including their training and development is part of the goal of the collection. The scope of this collection covers any innovations that are applicable to professional development and implementation for health professions educators. More specifically, we invite scholarship related to how educators prepare themselves for meeting the needs of their students given the changing roles and innovations available to both faculty and students across learning environments worldwide. Examples of topics of interest include: Analyses of innovation related to the evolving roles of health professions educators; Reviews of educational innovation adoption by health professions education faculty especially related to artificial intelligence linked applications; Exploring factors associated with professional development training and effective educational innovation adoption by faculty; Simulation based educational innovation applications for faculty development; Faculty innovation in resource constrained environments in low and middle income countries; Methodological challenges associated with studying educational innovations by faculty in health professions education; and critical research needs associated with generating and evaluating educational innovations. Methodological considerations associated with health professions education faculty competencies. Theoretically focused analyses are welcome as long as they are linked to applications.

Digital Storytelling
Carolyn Handler Miller, 2025-05-22
Digital Storytelling: A Creator's Guide to Interactive Entertainment, Volume I fifth edition delves into the fascinating and groundbreaking stories enabled by interactive digital media, examining both fictional and non-fiction narratives. This fifth edition explores monumental developments, particularly the emergence of generative AI, and highlights exciting projects utilizing this technology. Additionally, it covers social media, interactive documentaries, immersive environments, and innovative uses of video games, chatbots, and virtual reality. Carolyn Handler Miller provides insights into storytelling essentials like character development, plot structure, dialogue, and emotion, while examining how digital media and interactivity influence these elements. This book also dives into advanced topics such as narratives using AR, VR, and XR alongside new forms of immersive media including large screens, escape rooms, and theme park experiences. With numerous case studies, this edition illustrates the creative possibilities of digital storytelling and its applications beyond entertainment, such as education, training, information, and promotion. Interviews with industry leaders further enhance the understanding of this evolving universe, making it a valuable resource for both professionals and enthusiasts.

Key Features: This book includes up to the minute developments in digital storytelling. It offers case studies of noteworthy examples of digital storytelling. It includes a glossary clearly defining new or difficult terms. Each chapter opens with several thought provoking questions about the chapter's topic. Each chapter concludes with several creative and engaging exercises to promote the reader's understanding of the chapter's topic Critiquing Generative AI in Africa's Media Ecosystems Lungile A. Tshuma, Trust Matsilele, 2025-11-17 This book takes a critical approach to the rise of Artificial Intelligence AI within the media and communication landscape. The book argues that as technology is a social construct reflecting existing power dynamics, those in the Global South and in Africa in particular are bound to be marginalised and have their knowledge systems overlooked as the Global North dominates technological developments. The birth of AI has ignited debates about its benefits to lower income countries, with some highlighting its potential to advance businesses and grow economies. However, this book argues that AI tools have been produced to serve Western needs and that instead there is a need for countries in Africa to have home-grown solutions defined by local values. Drawing on case studies and analysis from across the continent, the book seeks to caution, challenge, and proffer solutions to the use and understanding of Generative AI for media and communication in non-western societies. At a time when generative AI is threatening to shape the future of media and communication around the world, this book is a vital and timely contribution to debates within critical data studies and African media studies.

Artificial Intelligence Literacy in Higher Education Imre Fekete, 2025-07-08 This book explores the concept of artificial intelligence AI literacy within higher education, addressing both instructors and students' preparedness to engage with AI technologies responsibly and effectively. By synthesising existing frameworks and empirical studies alongside presenting two original research studies, the book bridges theoretical foundations with practical applications tailored for modern educational contexts. Practical recommendations include methods to develop AI literacy skills focusing on ethical awareness, technological competence, and the potential for AI to enhance teaching and learning processes. Aimed at higher education instructors, stakeholders, and students, the book offers actionable insights and tools for fostering informed and critical engagement with AI aligned with lifelong learning goals and professional development needs. Emerging Technologies In Sustainable Innovation, Management and Development R. Udaya Kumar, 2025-10-13 ICETSIMD 2025 was conceived as a vital platform for academicians, researchers, and industry leaders. Its primary purpose was to explore the transformative potential of emerging technologies in driving sustainable development. To ensure the high quality, originality, and relevance of the contributions, all submissions to the ICETSIMD 2025 conference underwent a rigorous double-blind peer review process. We received 300 manuscript submissions, from which 100 were selected for inclusion in the conference proceedings. Each manuscript was evaluated by at least two independent experts based on criteria including scientific rigor, methodological soundness, clarity, and contribution to the conference themes. Writing about Data Joanna Wolfe, 2024-08-15 Writing about Data introduces writers to the notion that presenting data involves rhetorical choices and addresses the key strategies for working with data, including best practices for creating charts and graphs. Think Like a Human David Weitzner, 2025-05-13

A new way of thinking that improves how we work, create, and live, empowering readers to outsmart AI, a tool that can never do what humans do. The bedrock on which technology has been built and on which we now make strategic political ethical and even day to day decisions algorithmic thinking is flawed As we race headlong into a future where we outsource all our problem solving to artificial intelligence the greatest threat is not superintelligent machinery but too much trust in Big Tech and not enough trust in the power of our own minds Think Like a Human offers a new way forward what Dr Weitzner calls artful intelligence a philosophy that can help each of us solve problems and make better decisions To think artfully is to approach problem solving not just with our brains but with our hands eyes and ears along with our literal and metaphorical hearts and guts tapping into the myriad of underutilized cognitive resources distributed throughout our bodies Think Like a Human is a refreshing antidote and reality check to artificial intelligence mania and fear Cutting through the hype misinformation and corporate hustle around AI this book will inspire you to adopt the artful approach bringing intuition and emotional intelligence to your work and life EasyWriter Andrea
