In a widely read essay entitled MFA vs NYC, bestselling novelist Chad Harbach, The Art of Fielding, argued that the American literary scene has split into two cultures: New York publishing versus university MFA programs. This book brings together established writers, MFA professors and students, and New York editors, publicists, and agents to talk about these overlapping worlds and the ways writers make or fail to make a living within them. Should you seek an advanced degree or will workshops smother your style? Do you need to move to New York or will the high cost of living undo you? What's worse: having a day job or not having health insurance? How do agents decide what to represent? Will Big Publishing survive? How has the rise of MFA programs affected American fiction? The expert contributors, including George

Saunders Elif Batuman and Fredric Jameson consider all these questions and more with humor and rigor MFA vs NYC is a must read for aspiring writers and for anyone interested in the present and future of American letters     Marketing Gary M.
