The De Gruyter Handbook of Robots in Society and Culture provides a comprehensive discussion of how social robots take form, function, and meaning for individuals, relationships, cultures, and societies. Through a path-breaking integration of perspectives coming from sociology, communication, and media psychology, cognitive neuroscience, anthropology, political science, and science and technology studies, it focuses on the critical and social meaning of present developments in social robotic technologies. This book looks at artificial agents from voice-based assistants to humanoid robots as their use transforms private and public contexts and gives rise to both new possibilities and new perils for human being and becoming, organizations as well as social structures and institutions. The handbook traces the consequences and key problems of social robotics across broad social contexts in both public and political as well as domestic and intimate spaces. Further, it attends carefully to the implications of social robotics for various human identity groups including those based on gender, ethnicity, culture, class, ability, and age. Deep attention to interdisciplinarity, inclusivity, ethics, and socio-cultural futures serves as the guiding inspiration behind each contribution within this handbook.

Impact of Technology on Human Behaviors in Medical Professions Education Muhammad Azeem Ashraf, Jinbo He, Samson Maekele Tsegay, 2025-02-20. Human behaviors are essential in understanding how individuals engage in medical science academic activities. Healthcare systems across the globe have witnessed a significant shift in recent years by integrating technology in innovating new methods and practices to improve educational practices. Therefore, pedagogical practices in medical sciences are expected to be consistent with the current developments so that medical students are prepared with the necessary skills when entering workplaces. In addition, the excessive use of technology has created severe concerns in the academic community that needs further investigation. Thus, it is crucial to know how teachers and students in medical sciences engage themselves in challenging behaviors, particularly in academic activities. This Research Topic aims to call for papers examining the influence of technology on human behavior in medical education. We invite researchers, practitioners, teachers, and students in all medical science disciplines to submit their research papers encompassing Quantitative studies, Qualitative studies, Empirical Case studies, Mixed Method studies, Experimental Research, and Review studies. This Research Topic welcomes articles about but not only limited to the following topics: 1. impact of technology on human behavior in medical professions teaching; 2. impact of technology on human behavior in medical professions training and learning; 3. effect of different social and psychological factors on healthy/unhealthy use of technology in medical sciences.
