

Desarrollo, dependencia y Estado en el debate latinoamericano

Mabel Thwaites Rey¹ y José Castillo²
(Universidad de Buenos Aires, Argentina)

Resumen

Una vez completado el ciclo de ajuste estructural y de reformas estatales pro-mercado de corte neoliberal de los años noventa, en América latina ha comenzado una nueva etapa. Ya en el contexto de la globalización, problemas clásicos como el desarrollo, la dependencia y el papel del estado nacional vuelven a tener vigencia teórica y práctica. En estas páginas pasamos revista a una muy rica tradición crítica, que va desde la visión del desarrollo de la CEPAL hasta la "teoría de la dependencia" –incluyendo las contribuciones de autores marxistas y neo-marxistas–, que ha hecho un aporte importante para analizar los límites y las posibilidades del estado nación para establecer un espacio de autonomía frente al capitalismo global. Veremos, entonces, cómo viejos debates se entroncan hoy con nuevas configuraciones políticas y experiencias en diversos países de la región y reintroducen en la agenda cuestiones tan vigentes como el desarrollo y la dependencia.

Palabras clave: América Latina – estado-nación – desarrollo – dependencia – globalización – CEPAL – marxismo – neo-marxismo

Abstract

Once completed the cycle of structural adjustment and pro-market and neoliberal– oriented reforms of the state sector during the nineties, a new period has begun in Latin America. In the context of globalization, classical problems such as development, dependence and the role of the national state regain theoretical and practical relevance. In this paper we review a very rich critical tradition, from the development vision of CEPAL to the theory of dependence (including the contributions of Marxist and neo-Marxists) that have made an

Regional Integration and Modernity Natalie J. Doyle, Lorenza Sebesta, 2014-09-26 This book offers a new framework for comparing experiences of integration regionalization must be reinterpreted as an aspect of modernization modernization unfolding also at the local national and global levels The contributors discuss how and why the different visions of modernity that inform modernization projects encouraged the construction or rejection of regional integration at different times and in different places It starts with an analysis of plans for the economic integration of Europe in the aftermath of World War I It shows how integration was identified as the means to modernize the region with a view to helping it overcome political fragmentation and adapt to new conditions of global capitalism It then turns to the debate on modernization unfolding in the era that constituted the formative period of integration for both Europe and Latin America It analyses examples of the complex interaction between these two different experiences as it extends into the present Finally it looks at the social and political actors that promoted integration in the two regions and at the discourse they formulated to do so

Dependencia y desarrollo en debate Fernando Belaúnde Terry, 1983 Dependency Theory After Fifty Years Claudio Katz, 2022-03-16 This book received the Libertador Prize for Critical Thought 2018 demonstrating a renewal of interest in Dependency Theory That conception initially included distinct forms of Marxism liberalism and developmentalism that should be differentiated despite sharing the same name The later retreat of that approach contrasts with the growing present day relevance of its postulates Latin America bears the effects of dependency even more acutely than in the past making it imperative to understand the logic of its peripheral subordination Dependency Theory in its original form is insufficient for explaining contemporary reality it must be updated to interpret the current modalities of dependent capitalism This book offers analytical clues to that reinvention

The Dialectics of Dependency Ruy Mauro Marini, 2022-11-01 A foundational essay of class struggle published in English for the first time Considered one of the most important intellectuals in Latin American social thought Ruy Mauro Marini demonstrated that underdevelopment and development are the result of relations between economies in the world market and the class relations they engender In The Dialectics of Dependency the Brazilian sociologist and revolutionary showed that as Latin America came to specialize in the production of raw materials and foodstuffs while importing manufactured goods a process of unequal exchange took shape that created a transfer of value to the imperialist centers This encouraged capitalists in the periphery to resort to the superexploitation of workers harsh working conditions where wages fall below what is needed to reproduce their labor power In this way the economies of Latin America which played a fundamental role in facilitating a new phase of the industrial revolution in western Europe passed from the colonial condition only to be rendered economically dependent or subordinated to imperialist economies This unbalanced relationship which nonetheless allows capitalists of both imperialist and dependent regions to profit has been reproduced in successive international divisions of labor of world economy and continues to inform the day to day life of Latin American workers and their struggles Written during an upsurge of class struggle in the region in the 1970s and published here in English for the first time the revelations inscribed in this foundational essay are proving more relevant than ever The Dialectics of Dependency is an internationalist contribution from one Latin American Marxist to dispossessed and oppressed people struggling the world over and a gift to those who struggle from within the recesses of present day imperialist centers nourishing today s efforts to think through the definition of revolution on a global scale Debates
