

Peter Handke

Der Hausierer

Roman
Suhrkamp

Die Mordgeschichte beginnt, wie alle Geschichten, als die Fortsetzung einer andern Geschichte. Die Personen und Dinge, die beschrieben werden, sind schon bekannt aus der andern Geschichte, die nicht geschrieben, sondern nur stillschweigend vorausgesetzt ist. Wie jede Geschichte gibt sich auch die Mordgeschichte als die Fortsetzung einer nicht vorhandenen Geschichte.

Der Hausierer Roman:

Der Hausierer Peter Handke, 1992 The Child's View of the Third Reich in German Literature Debbie

Pinfold, 2001-08-23 This book examines the ways in which German authors have used the child's perspective to present the Third Reich. It considers how children at this time were brought up and educated to accept unquestioningly National Socialist ideology and thus questions the possibility of a traditional naive perspective on these events. Authors as diverse as Günter Grass, Siegfried Lenz, and Christa Wolf together with many less well known writers have all used this perspective and this raises the question as to why it is such a popular means of confronting the enormity of the Third Reich. This study asks whether this perspective is an evasive strategy, a means of gaining new insights into the period, or a means of discovering a new language which had not been tainted by Nazism. This raises and addresses issues central to a post-war aesthetic in German writing.

Silenced Facts Bianca Theisen, 2021-10-01 In response to the silence that continues to shroud Austria's historical past, Austrian literature after 1950 wants to retrace an untold history that left its marks in mental schemata and cultural clichés. The question how literature can refer to the facts silenced by a political unconscious, the question of literary reference and reality description lies at the core of Austrian literature since the 1950s. This book traces the development of contemporary Austrian fiction from the 1950s to the 1990s, showing how the Vienna Group's literary reductionism led to gesture of mere pointing in happening and performance. While strongly indebted to the experimental techniques of the Vienna Group, later Austrian authors such as Thomas Bernhard, Peter Handke, Peter Rosei, and Gerhard Roth employ literary forms and extra-literary media prone to the indexical in an attempt to cut through the net of linguistic and cultural clichés, alluding to the microfascisms latent in common percepts and indexing a reality that eludes plain description.

Peter Handke Rolf G. Renner, 2023-03-13 The volume presents Handke's works from Hornissen (1966) to Das zweite Schwert (2020) in individual analyses and at the same time opens up overarching orientations of Handke's writing. The autoreflexive traces that characterise the author's experimental early work are perpetuated in a middle phase by a return to traditional forms of epic narrative and literary models that is philosophically influenced. In the late work, these approaches give rise to a comprehensive poetics of narrative that links all the texts together. In the process, previously developed motifs are condensed into overarching thematic complexes. Alongside the reality of war, the relationship between image and writing, text and film, social and media developments of modernity come to the fore. The reference of Handke's texts to images of the painterly tradition and visual strategies of his writing are given special weight. This book is a translation of the original German 1st edition by Peter Handke, translated by Rolf G. Renner, published by Springer Verlag GmbH, Germany, part of Springer Nature in 2020. The translation was done with the help of artificial intelligence machine translation by the service DeepL.com. A subsequent human revision was done primarily in terms of content so that the book will read stylistically differently from a conventional translation. Springer Nature works continuously to further the development of tools for the production of books.

Research Libraries, 1979 Peter Handke Garvin H. C. Perram, 1992 The genesis of Peter Handke s controversial poetics is investigated through an examination of key Elfenbeinturm essays and ORF B cherecke manuscripts in which Handke s early literary preoccupations were most evident From this a coherent and comprehensive view of the theoretical foundations of his literary concerns and practice emerges This is followed by a detailed analysis of characteristic elements present in Handke s early narrative prose texts Die Hornissen Der Hausierer Die Angst des Tormanns beim Elfmeter Wunschloses Ungl ck and the collection of short stories

Begründung des Aufsichtsrats This investigation of the early texts reveals a common triadic relationship between the highly intrusive foregrounding of the narrative constituent of these texts the manner in which the literary reality is realized and their central thematic concern Handke's rather enigmatic and somewhat neglected early prose works are made very much more accessible through the insights afforded by this book
