Deregulation and Globalization Daniel M. Kasper, 1988 Liberalization in Aviation Hartmut Wolf, Peter Forsyth, David Gillen, Kai Hüscherlath, Hans-Martin Niemeier, 2016-05-06 The last few decades have witnessed substantial liberalization trends in various industries and countries Starting with the deregulation of the US airline industry in 1978 regulatory restructuring took place in further network industries such as telecommunications electricity or railways in various countries around the world Although most of the liberalization movements were initially triggered by the worrying performances of the respective regulatory frameworks increases in competition and corresponding improvements in allocative and productive efficiency were typically associated with the respective liberalization efforts From an academic perspective the transition from regulated industries to liberalized industries has attracted a substantial amount of research reflected in many books and research articles which can be distilled to three main questions 1 What are the forces that have given rise to regulatory reform 2 What is the structure of the regulatory change which has occurred to date and is likely to occur in the immediate future 3 What have been the effects on industry efficiency prices and profits of the reforms which have occurred to date Liberalization in Aviation brings together renowned academics and practitioners from around the world to address all three questions and draw policy conclusions The book is divided into five sections in turn dealing with aspects of competition in various liberalized markets the emergence and growth of low cost carriers horizontal mergers and alliances infrastructures and concluding with economic assessments of liberalization steps so far and proposed steps in the future International Airline Alliances : EC Competition Law/US Antitrust Law and International Air Transport Angela Cheng-Jui Lu, 2003-01-01 This new study takes a keen look at the problems facing the international community due to conflicts arising from applications of varying competition laws by different competition authorities to international airline alliances As a result of privatisation deregulation liberalisation and globalisation international air carriers form alliances with one another in order to cope with growing competition in the international air transport market This book clearly provides an introduction to the background to and origin of airline alliances different models of alliances and the related anti competitive practices resulting from existing international airline alliances The potential anti competitive practices resulting from these cross border alliances trigger a great deal of concern from various competition authorities Thus this study goes on to provide a detailed analysis regarding the relevant EC competition law and US antitrust law and their applications to alliance activities The comparison of different applications of EC competition law and US antitrust law to international airline alliances provides leading research results first hand In the conclusion the essential elements regarding establishing a level playing field in the international air transport market are identified and the author provides possible solutions for the harmonisation of different applications of competition law to international airline alliances The Law and Regulation of Airspace Liberalisation in Brazil Delphine Defosse, 2022-05-30 The book starts from the premise that the current aviation framework in Brazil cannot sustain a full liberalisation in the long run While the competition rules in place offer a strong framework which only requires small modifications these rules are not enough to foster a healthy liberalisation In fact until recently Brazilian airlines were operating in a homogenous market where competition was artificial This artificial competition obtained through the imposition of a legal obligation to provide water and a snack and grant a 23kg bag allowance has resulted in a highly concentrated domestic market with very few players Compared to other same size markets such as China or India Brazil is far behind in terms of airlines operating at national level Consequently the opening of the domestic market must be closely regulated to avoid national carriers suffocating under external pressure For this reason state intervention during the liberalisation process is crucial State intervention is also with regard to the protection of passengers The other major problem is the protection framework for passengers which is much too uncertain and burdensome In a sense it is detrimental to the domestic market and passengers Indeed there is no harmonisation of passenger compensation leading to contradictory judgments and possible high moral damages which hinders legal certainty for airlines Compared to the situation in the EU in Brazil airlines have a limited range of defences which are often dismissed by courts This book therefore critically analyses the policies and regulations in place by mainly comparing the Brazilian framework to the European one This choice has been motivated by the fact that European liberalisation is considered the best so far and as Brazil is starting this process much later it could benefit from the European experience This book will be of particular interest to scholars and practitioners interested in the Brazilian system

Strategies for Sustainable Air Services Development Chrystal Zhang,Kareem Yarde,2024-12-02 Routes are arguably the most valuable of airline assets Although widely practised in the industry the process of developing air connectivity has drawn very limited academic research. However, this book fills in this knowledge gap. Strategies for Sustainable Air Services Development unwraps the process of decision making in establishing airlinks from the airline's perspective as well as the roles of various stakeholders including airports, tourism authorities, tourist destination organizations, local investment agencies, and regional development agencies. Developed from rigorous academic research and analysis of a myriad of data sources that include interviews, surveys, and workshops with industry practitioners, it presents a framework of best practices that will serve as a toolkit and central resource point for industry professionals to initiate and establish airlinks to benefit air travellers and society at large. The first book of its kind, it presents the most comprehensive assessment available to date of all the intricacies involved in developing airlinks. The book will equip senior and middle managers, practitioners, policymakers, and students with the practical skills and tools required to develop and design airlinks for the benefit of all stakeholders.

Privatization and Deregulation in Global Perspective

Dennis J. Gayle, Jonathan N. Goodrich, 1990. In this volume, the leading scholars and practitioners in the field provide a comprehensive in-depth examination of trends in privatization throughout the world. Focusing primarily on the experiences of seventeen countries, including developing countries, advanced industrial nations, and socialist states, the book explores theoretical approaches toward the issues inherent in privatization and deregulation, specifies techniques for successful privatization, and examines the costs, benefits, and limits of privatization policies. The contributors then present a series of twenty detailed case studies which assess the actual problems and prospects associated with privatization and deregulation, policy choices across varied sociopolitical systems, and a range of economic sectors. The result is the most extensive comparative public policy analysis yet published on the subject of privatization and deregulation. Following an introductory overview which addresses the interaction between privatization, deregulation, and market liberalization within both developed and developing country policy environments, the contributors discuss the philosophical bases of privatization policies, examine the seminal experiences of Britain and the United States, and identify factors responsible for successful privatization efforts. This is followed by case studies of privatization in such sectors as finance, transportation, health care, housing, and telecommunications around the world. After special sectoral studies of developing country finance, debt, equity conversions, and international air transport, the authors successively survey the experience of privatization in selected Latin American, Caribbean, West African, and Asian developing nations, in the advanced industrial nations of Canada, France, New Zealand, and Sweden, and in the socialist countries of China, Hungary, and Poland. In their conclusion, the editors discuss the immediate implications of the contributors' findings and suggest research directions for the future. Numerous explanatory tables and figures are included, making this an ideal supplemental text for courses in business, government, and public policy.
