Demons The Making Of The Monk Spiritua:

Demons and the Making of the Monk David Brakke, 2006-01-30 Demons whether in embodied form or as inward temptation make vivid appearances in early Christian monastic literature In this finely written study of demonology and Christian spirituality in fourth and fifth century Egypt David Brakke examines how the conception of the monk as a holy and virtuous being was shaped by the combative encounter with demons Brakke studies the making of the monk from two perspectives First he describes the social and religious identities that monastic authors imagined for the demon fighting monk the new martyr who fights against the pagan gods the gnostic who believes he knows both the tricks of the demons and the secrets of God and the prophet who discerns the hidden presence of Satan even among good Christians Then he employs recent theoretical ideas about gender and racial stereotyping to interpret accounts of demon encounters especially those in which demons appear as the Other as Ethiopians as women or as pagan gods Drawing on biographies of exceptional monks collections of monastic sayings and stories letters from ascetic teachers to their disciples sermons and community rules Brakke crafts a compelling picture of the embattled religious celibate Demons and the Making of the Monk is an insightful and innovative exploration of the development of Christian monasticism

Beckman, 2012-09-17 The Cambridge Companion to Christian Mysticism is a multi authored interdisciplinary guide to the study of Christian mysticism with an emphasis on the 3rd through the 17th centuries Written by leading authorities and younger scholars from a range of disciplines the volume both provides a clear introduction to the Christian mystical life and articulates a bold new approach to the study of mysticism

Demons in the Details Sara Ronis, 2025-04-15 The Babylonian Talmud is full of stories of demonic encounters and it also includes many laws that attempt to regulate such encounters In this book Sara Ronis takes the reader on a journey across the rabbinic canon exploring how late antique rabbis imagined feared and controlled demons Ronis contextualizes the Talmud s thought within the rich cultural matrix of Sasanian Babylonia placing rabbinic thinking in conversation with Sumerian Akkadian Ugaritic Syriac Christian Zoroastrian and Second Temple Jewish texts about demons to delve into the interactive communal context in which the rabbis created boundaries between the human and the supernatural and between themselves and other religious communities Demons in the Details explores the wide range of ways that the rabbis participated in broader discussions about beliefs and practices with their neighbors out of which they created a profoundly Jewish demonology

Talking Back Evagrius Of Pontus, 2009-08-01 How did the monks of the Egyptian desert fight against the demons that attacked them with tempting thoughts How could Christians resist the thoughts of gluttony fornication or pride that assailed them and obstructed their contemplation of God According to Evagrius of Pontus 345-399 one of the greatest spiritual directors of ancient monasticism the monk should talk back to demons with relevant passages from the Bible His book Talking Back Antirrhetikos lists over 500 thoughts or circumstances in which the demon-fighting monk might find himself along with the biblical passages with which the monk should respond It became one of the most popular books among the ascetics of Late Antiquity and the Byzantine East but until now the entire text had not been translated into English From Talking Back we gain a better understanding of Evagrius's eight primary demons: gluttony, fornication, love of money, sadness, anger, listlessness, vainglory, and pride We can explore a central aspect of early monastic spirituality and we get a glimpse of the temptations and anxieties that the first desert monks faced David Brakke is professor and chair of the Department of Religious Studies in the College of Arts and Sciences of Indiana University He studied ancient Christianity at Harvard Divinity School and Yale University Brakke is the author of Athanasius and Asceticism and Demons and the Making of the Monk: Spiritual Combat in Early Christianity and he edits the Journal of Early Christian Studies

Magic, Ritual, and Witchcraft, 2006      Blazing Walls, Blazing Brothers Sidney Robert Banks, 2011 This dissertation contributes to the study of late antique demonology and the development of Christian monasticism in fourth-century Egypt In particular I explore the relationship between the development of the Pachomian Koinonia and the belief its members held about demons While there has been no previous publication devoted to this relationship David Brakke has included a chapter on Pachomian demonology in his book Demons and the Making of the Monk: Spiritual Combat in Early Christianity I differ with Brakke in two general ways First I place greater emphasis upon the fact that demons in Late Antique Egypt were not only threats to a person's thoughts but also to physical bodies Second I place greater emphasis upon what communal life added to a monk's struggle against demonic attacks both upon his body and upon his mind In order to carry out this task I have made a close examination of Coptic Greek and Latin Pachomian texts clearly identified in the first chapter I have also made an analysis of other texts to place the Pachomian material in the wider cultural context of fourth-century Egypt Using this material I describe what demons were believed to be and what they were believed to be capable of doing by people living in that time and place I then explore what role communal life played in the Pachomian attempt to resist the demons I conclude that the communal life shared by the Pachomian monks was a source of protection against demonic attack In the third chapter I show that the presence of experienced monks protected the less experienced from violent demonic attack In the fourth chapter I show that communal life also protected the monk from demonic assaults upon his thoughts

Negotiating Clerical Identities Jennifer D. Thibodeaux, 2010-10-13 Clerics in the Middle Ages were subjected to differing ideals of masculinity both from within the Church and from lay society The historians in this volume interrogate the meaning of masculine identity for the medieval clergy by considering a wide range of sources, time periods, and geographical contexts      The American Benedictine Review, 2020      Christian Spirituality: From the time of Our Lord till the dawn of the middle ages, translated by W. H. Mitchell and S. P. Jacques Pierre Pourrat, 1922 Christian Martyrdom in Late Antiquity (300-450 AD) Peter Gemeinhardt, Johan Leemans, 2012 The present volumes focus lies on the formation of a multifaceted discourse on Christian martyrdom in Late Antiquity While martyrdom accounts remain a central means of defining Christian identity new literary genres emerge e g the Lives of Saints Athanasius on Antony sermons the Cappadocians hymns Prudentius Authors like Eusebius of Caesarea and Augustine employ martyrological language and motifs in their writings while beyond the borders of the Roman Empire new martyrs narratives can be found The volume thus enlarges and specifies our knowledge of this important Christian discourse Sacred Space Steve Brie, Jenny Daggers, David Torevell, 2009 The identification and positioning of sacred space within contemporary contexts has to date received scant attention In reflecting upon a broad spectrum of conceptions of what constitutes sacred space this collection of interdisciplinary essays presents a new perspective on an area that is developing into an important theological and philosophical concept Dictionary of Theologians to 1308 Jonathan Hill, 2010 An indispensable exhaustive guide to every significant Christian theologian from the first century through the death of John Duns Scotus in 1308 the Dictionary of Theologians is a window into the complex world of early and medieval Christian thought Studies and Texts, 1955 A Feminist Companion to Patristic Literature Amy-Jill Levine, Maria Mayo Robbins, 2008-07 In its twelfth volume this text examines a number of Patristic texts and early Christian documents from a feminist perspective Philae and the End of Ancient Egyptian Religion Jitse H. F. Dijkstra, 2008 The famous island of Philae on Egypt's southern frontier can be considered the last major temple site where Ancient Egyptian religion was practiced According to the Byzantine historian Procopius in 535-537 CE the Emperor Justinian ordered one of his generals to end this situation by destroying the island's temples This account has usually been accepted as a sufficient explanation for the end of the Ancient Egyptian cults at Philae Yet it is by no means unproblematic This book shows that the event of 535-537 has to be seen in a larger context of religious transformation at Philae which was more complex and gradual than Procopius describes it Not only are the various Late Antique sources from and on Philae taken into account for the first time the religious developments at Philae are also placed in a regional context by analyzing the sources from the other major towns in the region Syene Aswan and Elephantine The author situates his material into its wider historical context and does this so effectively that what begins as a very specific study of a local problem expands to consider the transitions from paganism to Christianity in Egypt as a whole and stands as one of the most important studies of this topic to date This well written and deeply learned book is a tour de force of regional religious history that will also be essential reading for anyone interested in indigenous religion and early Christianity in this time of transition Terry Wilfong in Bulletin of the American Society of Papyrologists Journal of the History of Sexuality, 2006 Born-Again Masculinity Melissa Joy Hackman, 2011 The Body and Society Peter Brown, 2008 First published in 1988 Peter Brown's The Body and Society was a groundbreaking study of the marriage and sexual practices of early Christians in the ancient Mediterranean and Near East Brown focuses on the practice of permanent sexual renunciation continence celibacy and lifelong virginity in Christian circles from the first to the fifth centuries A D and traces early Christians preoccupations with sexuality and the body in the work of the period s great writers The Body and Society questions how theological views on sexuality and the human body both mirrored and shaped relationships between men and women Roman aristocracy and slaves and the married and the celibate Brown discusses Tertullian Valentinus Clement of Alexandria Origen Constantine the Desert Fathers Jerome Ambrose and Augustine among others and considers asceticism and society in the Eastern Empire martyrdom and prophecy gnostic spiritual guidance promiscuity among the men and women of the church monks and marriage in Egypt the ascetic life of women in fourth century Jerusalem and the body and society in the early Middle Ages In his new introduction Brown reflects on his work s reception in the scholarly community

The Sculptural Environment of the Roman Near East Yaron Z. Eliav, Elise A. Friedland, Sharon Herbert, 2008 Public sculptures were the mass media of the Roman world They populated urban centers throughout the empire serving as a plastic language that communicated political religious and social messages This book brings together twenty eight experts who otherwise rarely convene text based scholars of the Greco Roman Jewish and Christian realms from the fields of classics history and religion and specialists in the artistic traditions of Greece and Rome as well as art historians and archaeologists Utilizing the full spectrum of ancient sources the book examines the multiple at times even contradictory meanings and functions that statues served within the complex world of the Roman Near East Moreover it situates the discussion of sculpture in the broader context of antiquity in order to reevaluate long held scholarly consensus on such ideas as the essence of Hellenism the culture that emerged from the encounter of Greco Romans with the Near East and the everlasting conflict among paganism Christianity and Judaism
