How To Make Money With Best Cities For Remote Workers With Low Investment:

Investment Aftercare Explained Carolina Arriagada Peters, David Coble, Toby X. Li, Brendan Lewis, 2021-11-29 This book is the first to systematically map the last step of the foreign investor's journey usually referred to as post investment aftercare or business retention and expansion. It provides a wide range of approaches and strategies for host economies to better retain foreign investors encourage follow on expansions and achieve greater local economic embeddedness through a multi stakeholder dialogue leading to improvement of the overall business climate. Global foreign direct investments reached US 1.5 trillion in 2019 but this figure reduced by over 42% in 2020 due to the pandemic. Against this backdrop retaining established investors became even more important. Numerous organisations all over the world are dedicated to attracting foreign companies to invest in their markets. Facilitating this effort is a dynamic and competitive industry that involves international organisations supporting capacity building think tanks academia and consultants. However once foreign companies decide to invest a critical question arises how can host economies grow and retain these foreign investments. Many host governments could do much better as there is very little post investment support for these foreign companies to help them grow their businesses throughout different stages of investment business and economic cycles. This is where aftercare comes in. In this book the authors include diverse examples from around the world to demonstrate aftercare best practices in action. This book is an essential read for all public administration staff related to FDI attraction and promotion practitioners in the private sector and FDI consultants. It will also be of great interest to multilateral organisations seeking to organise seminars and training courses for capacity building. The book will also benefit researchers academics and postgraduate students of international relations foreign trade and internationalisation. For further information see www.aftercareexplained.com

Rural Areas in Transition Norman Walzer, Christopher Merrett, 2022-12-23 This volume explores new opportunities to reshape local economies in rural areas during the next decade by exploring successful efforts already underway While reported population declines can paint a bleak picture for rural areas a different story can be told in looking at the numbers of households employment and housing markets In fact many rural areas have had steady employment and healthy housing markets Rural attractions often include proximity to natural recreation areas personal safety social interaction less expensive housing and high quality education This book shows that rural areas are in a major long term transition and that local leaders who take advantage of these opportunities in their community and economic development strategies can create a very positive future for residents Students and policymakers in local economic development sociology of population change business finance political economy and geography will find this a useful resource

The Saturday Evening Post, 1928 Gaining Ground Clifford Winston, 2021-08-17 Focusing on ways that markets work with rather than against governments to enhance public welfare The optimal mix of market forces and government intervention to allocate resources is one of the longest standing problems facing human civilization At the theoretical extremes resources in centrally planned economies are allocated by the government while resources in capitalist economies are allocated by private markets In practice market forces and government interventions co exist to allocate goods and services in a political environment with shifting pressures to give one approach more responsibility than the other Current public attitudes toward markets are at a low point in the wake of the Great Recession and the growth in income inequality that began in the 1970s However in this book noted Brookings economist Clifford Winston argues that it is a serious mistake to overlook that markets will be a critical part of the solution to any public objective whether it be to reduce inequality stimulate long term growth slow climate change or eliminate COVID 19 In Winston's view policymakers should be much more aware of the many ways that markets help government to achieve economic and social goals and the potential that markets have to provide greater assistance in achieving those goals Winston synthesizes the empirical evidence on the efficacy of markets in helping to protect consumers against anti competitive behavior and when technology appears to prevent price competition to enable individuals to make more informed decisions and to reduce negative externalities improve public production and encourage innovations Importantly Winston presents evidence indicating how markets can also help to reduce poverty promote fairness in labor markets and provide merit goods Winston subjects his assessment to a robustness test by explaining how market forces have helped to address the COVID 19 pandemic by for example finding new ways for people to work safely and providing incentives for pharmaceutical companies to develop safe and effective vaccines Winston takes a proactive approach in his conclusion by suggesting the formation of a major Commission composed of academics policymakers and businesspeople Such a panel could explore how market forces could provide greater help to government to address economic and social problems and could provide specific recommendations to facilitate market solutions where appropriate
