Crisis and Reform in Eastern Europe Ferenc Feher, 2020-02-13 Communism in Eastern Europe is in crisis Its dimensions are social and economic its manifestation is political This volume a collection of essays by leading authorities describes the symptoms of the crisis diagnoses the causes of the malady and offers alternative scenarios for therapy A unique dimension of this collection is its avoidance of one dimensional explanations The contributors approach the subject from very different angles and start from very distinct sociopolitical premises The volume includes original accounts of unexplored aspects of East European communism as well as classic interpretations of the economic crisis and social stagnation that characterize the area Contributions not only examine the sociopolitical behavior of the ruling apparatus but also analyze its strategies political culture and the opposition Both the professional and the general reader seeking more information about Eastern Europe will find this volume an extensive in depth portrait of the current situation in what many observers predict may develop into the major area of tension in post World War II Europe

Turmoil at Twenty Pradeep K. Mitra, Marcelo Selowski, Juan F. Zalduendo, 2009-10-30 The transition economies of Central and Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union among all emerging and developing economy regions have been hardest hit by the global economic crisis of 2008 09 This is partly due to the region s deep integration into the global economy across many dimensions trade financial and labor flows Attempts by countries that came later to the transition to catch up rapidly to Western European living standards at a time when global liquidity was unusually abundant together with some policy weaknesses made them vulnerable to reversals in market sentiment Written on the eve of the twentieth anniversary of the fall of the Berlin Wall Turmoil at Twenty analyzes the run up to the current crisis and addresses a number of key questions related to vulnerability to the recession expected recovery and necessary reforms in the region Did the transition from command to market economies and the period during which this took place plant the seeds of vulnerability that made transition countries more prone to crisis than other developing countries Did the choices made on the road from plan to market shape the ability of crisis hit countries to recover What combination of domestic policy reform and international collective action is needed to bring about a recovery and minimize the humanitarian cost of the crisis What structural reforms are needed today to address the most binding constraints on growth in a world where capital flows to transition and developing countries are expected to be considerably lower than before the crisis Turmoil at Twenty will be of interest to policy makers and their advisers researchers and students of economics who seek lessons from the current economic crisis as well as scholars of the transition

Growth, Innovation and Reform in Eastern Europe Stanislaw Gomulka, 1986 Research papers on economic growth Innovation and economic reform in the socialist countries of Eastern Europe part of Hungary Poland the USSR and Yugoslavia covers issues relating to the impact of the political system on economic development research and development industrialization industrial growth choice of technology trade with advanced capitalist countries etc comments on socialist and Western economic theories includes economic analysis methodology Graphs references statistical tables Pressures for Reform in the East European Economies, 1989 The Political Economy of Fiscal Reform in Central-Eastern Europe Frank Bönker, 2006-01-01 Frank Bönker has done a masterful job This is probably the best book available on this important subject and its significance is not limited to studies of postcommunist societies It has important theoretical implications for everyone interested in the Political Economy of Policy Reform perspective within the field of comparative political economy John L Campbell Slavic Review Economic Reforms in Eastern Europe Radoslav Selucký, 1972 Analysis of the ideological and political aspects of the reform of economic systems and economic administration in Eastern European countries discusses the reform alternatives of a planned economy system the extent of decentralization particularly in respect of economic planning the impact of the CMEA economic integration programme etc References A History of Eastern Europe Robert Bideleux, Ian Jeffries, 1998 While mainly focusing on the modern era the effects of ethnic nationalism fascism and communism this history also offers revisionist coverage of topics such as the Hussite Revolution and the rise and decline of the Polish Lithuanian Commonwealth

Economic Reform in Eastern Europe Graham R. Bird, 1992 This analysis of economic reform in Eastern Europe covers topics such as the economics of conversion reforming the Soviet economy reform in Hungary economic adjustment in Eastern Europe and Eastern Europe and financial markets The American Bibliography of Slavic and East European Studies for 1994 Patt Leonard, Rebecca Routh, 1997-05-31 This text provides a source of citations to North American scholarships relating specifically to the area of Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union It indexes fields of scholarship such as the humanities arts technology and life sciences and all kinds of scholarship such as PhDs Turmoil at Twenty Marcelo Selowski, Juan Zalduendo, 2009 Two decades since the fall of the Berlin wall Central and Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union is experiencing the deepest contraction and is expected to see the weakest recovery in output among all emerging and developing economy regions a result of the global financial and economic crisis Their commitment to open trade and financial integration as part of the transition from plan to market has brought many gains but a combination of large global imbalances during this period and policy weaknesses in a number of countries made them vulnerable to the crisis The global recession is expected to be deeper and more protracted than any in recent memory and will test the international community's commitment to both the middle income countries of emerging Europe with access to capital markets as well as the poorest countries of the former Soviet Union Recovery from the crisis will require domestic policy reform in the countries and coordinated and sustained international collective action After two decades the business environment in transition countries increasingly resembles that of market economies at similar levels of per capita income Strong private sector growth preceding 2008 2009 led to firms reporting infrastructure and skilled labor as being among the most important barriers to doing business for the first time since transition began But rapid growth has also increased the costs to firms of weak market economy institutions in part the product of legacy especially in respect of the legal environment and corruption Preparing for the recovery from crisis will require attention to these weaknesses in the enabling environment

The Political Economy of Structural Reforms in Europe Nauro F. Campos, Paul De Grauwe, Yuemei Ji, 2018-07-04 Reforms in labour and product markets play a central role in government policies The Political Economy of Structural Reforms in Europe takes stock of current frontier work It brings together leading contributions from academia the central banks in Europe and the OECD to argue that structural reforms can make a fundamental contribution to improve economic performance across Europe The Political Economy of Structural Reforms in Europe brings together theoretical and empirical studies that address the potential role of structural reforms in restoring macroeconomic stability resuming economic growth addressing income inequality and grappling secular stagnation It throws new light on the determinants and effects of structural reforms and on how these shape the European integration experience

Economies of Eastern Europe Under Gorbachev's Influence Reiner Weichhardt, 1989

From Economic Crisis to Reform Grigore Pop-Eleches, 2008-12-08 The wave of neoliberal economic reforms in the developing world since the 1980s has been regarded as the result of both severe economic crises and policy pressures from global financial institutions such as the International Monetary Fund IMF Using comparative evidence from the initiation and implementation of IMF programs in Latin America and Eastern Europe From Economic Crisis to Reform shows that economic crises do not necessarily persuade governments to adopt IMF style economic policies Instead ideology interests and institutions at both the international and domestic levels mediate responses to such crises Grigore Pop Eleches explains that the IMF's response to economic crises reflects the changing priorities of large IMF member countries He argues that the IMF gives greater attention and favorable treatment to economic crises when they occur in economically or politically important countries The book also shows how during the neoliberal consensus of the 1990s economic crises triggered IMF style reforms from governments across the ideological spectrum and how these reforms were broadly compatible with democratic politics By contrast during the Latin American debt crisis the contentious politics of IMF programs reflected the ideological rivalries of the Cold War Economic crises triggered ideologically divergent domestic policy responses and democracy was often at odds with economic adjustment The author demonstrates that an economic crisis triggers neoliberal economic reforms only when the government and the IMF agree about the roots and severity of the crisis Reform, Conflict, and Change in the CIS and Eastern Europe Ram Rattan Sharma, Shashikant Jha, 1999 Mass Attitudes Toward Financial Crisis and Economic Reform in Korea Bernd Hayo, 2002 Free Markets and Food Riots John K. Walton, David Seddon, 2011-08-10 This book describes and explains the extraordinary wave of popular protest that swept across the so called Third World and the countries of the former socialist bloc during the period from the late 1970s to the early 1990s in response to the mounting debt crisis and the austerity measures widely adopted as part of economic reform and adjustment Explores this general proposition in a cross national study of the austerity protests or the IMF Riots that have affected so many debtor nations since the mid 1970s Argues that modern austerity protests like the classical bread riots in eighteenth century Europe are political acts aimed at injustice but acts that are an integral part of the process of international economic and political restructuring Evaluates how modern food riots are most important for what they reveal about global economic transformation and its social and political consequences Provides a general framework drawing on comparative and historical material and then trace the cycle of uneven development debt neo liberal reform and protest in Latin America Africa Asia the Middle East and Eastern Europe Focusses on the role of women in structural adjustment and protest politics and the features of seemingly anomalous cases which qualify the general argument Lessons from Reforms in Central and Eastern Europe in the Wake of the Global Financial Crisis Anders Åslund, 2012 Argues that the response of the ten new Eastern members of the European Union to the global financial crisis has valuable lessons of crisis resolution for the euro area Examines the main reform measures that the ten Central and East European CEE countries carried out Quantifies to what extent the CEE countries resolved the macroeconomic crisis and explores the effects of the reforms on future growth prospects Nordic journal of Soviet and East European studies , 1988
