INTERVENTION IN CRIMINAL JUSTICE/SOCIAL SERVICE James E. Hendricks, Cindy S. Hendricks, 2014-04-01 This expanded new edition continues to demonstrate and provide theoretical analytical and practical knowledge for first responders Face to face interaction with the client victim is part of the comprehensive approach advocated by the book which requires interveners to assess the nature of a crisis and the condition of the victim in order to determine the appropriate course of action The comprehensive balance of theory and practice presented in this book should enable the intervener in coupling his her general knowledge of human psychology and emotional crisis with the specific and novel characteristics of various crisis situations The text represents the work of national scholars who have expertise in criminal justice and social service issues Their chapters focus on a Historical and Theoretical Overview Ethics in Crisis Intervention Practice Intimate Partner Violence Police Response to Domestic Violence Children in Crisis Elder Mistreatment Suicide Crisis of Rape and Survivor Intervention Death Notification and the Theory and Practice of Delivering Bad News Terrorism and Crisis Intervention and Mass Casualty Crisis Response and Communication Helpful appendices in each chapter provide additional internet resources as well as a complete Model Law Enforcement Code of Ethics and Social Work Code of Ethics This new edition retains important information while providing current case studies such as the Miracle on the Hudson River crash the mass shootings at Virginia Tech the Boston Marathon bombing and the Yarnell Hill fire in Arizona This exceptional book is designed for firefighters police officers community service officers correctional workers emergency medical workers probation parole officers protective service workers psychological counselors social workers and victim assistance workers among others

Family Crisis Intervention Morton Bard, 1974 This monograph explains the concept that underlies police family crisis intervention training and discusses some guidelines and problems in organizing such a program In order to explain the importance of the term family crisis intervention as originally defined the author discusses two areas of human behavior that relate to this police function interpersonal conflict management and crisis intervention theory and practice The second major section of the monograph focuses on organizational and operational considerations in introducing family crisis intervention training in a police agency Given that organizational change inevitably stimulates ambivalence in the personnel affected by the change police managers must respect and address this ambivalence if the change is to be achieved effectively The change must also have clearly defined incentives and rewards Means must be found to reward the high degree of competence required in police family crisis intervention Three models for police family crisis intervention are profiled followed by descriptions of three training models intensive training field training and combined intensive and field training which holds the greatest promise if properly conceived and implemented In discussing police agency relationships with other agencies the monograph advises that an effective strategy of family crisis intervention requires the establishment of working relationships between the police and other agencies of the helping system
