Crit - An Architectural Student's Handbook Charles Doidge, Rachel Sara, Rosie Parnell, 2007-08-15 The architectural crit review or jury is a cornerstone of architectural education around the world Students defend their ideas drawings and models in open forum before staff and fellow students What academic staff see as healthy creative debate students see as hostile confrontation an ego trip for staff and humiliation for them This accessible and readable book written by students and illustrated by telling cartoons guides them through this academic minefield with creative humour It provides practical advice based on experience of many recent students and draws on recent experimentation at Sheffield University and De Montfort University Leicester The aim is twofold first to suggest how to get the most out of the traditional experience and second to describe ways in which this is being developed into an experience that will be more constructive and prepare future students to build more creative relationships with clients and users and across the industry While much has been written about the crit review or jury little has been done to prepare students for it or to develop it in the light of changing professional attitudes and relationships This book is a timely guide to a timeless experience in a changing profession

Rethinking the Crit Patrick Flynn, Maureen O'Connor, Mark Price, Miriam Dunn, 2022-09-06 Assessment in architecture and creative arts schools has traditionally adopted a one size fits all approach by using the crit where students pin up their work make a presentation and receive verbal feedback in front of peers and academic staff In addition to increasing stress and inhibiting learning which may impact more depending on gender and ethnicity the adversarial structure of the crit reinforces power imbalances and thereby ultimately contributes to the reproduction of dominant cultural paradigms This book critically examines the pedagogical theory underlying this approach discusses recent critiques of this approach and the reality of the crit is examined through analysis of practice The book explores the challenges for education and describes how changes to feedback in education can shape the future of architecture and the creative arts
