Defensive Measures Lee Upton, 2005 Much of our strongest poetry that learned its lessons from early modernism lives by its defensive measures that is by means of reversing inverting and challenging in covert ways a dominant perceptual mode Defensive Measures explores strategies by which poets claim their distinctiveness and argues that poetry is the one literary form that most insistently demands a defense It demands a defense it would seem because it is perpetually in crisis not only in regard to its utility and its aesthetic appeal or the vigor of its renunciation of such an appeal but in regard to its generic existence Upton defines a generative conception of defense and examines in a new light the poetry of Lorine Niedecker Elizabeth Bishop Louise Gluck and Anne Carson In writing about Bishop Upton puts this well regarded poet in a new framework aligning her work with that of three poets whose aesthetics might be viewed as antithetical to her own

Joyce through Lacan and Žižek S. Brivic, 2008-10-13 Brivic argues that James Joyce's fiction anticipated Jacques Lacan's idea that the perceivable world is made of language and that Joyce Lacan and Žižek all carry forward a psychological and linguistic groundwork for social reform

Calvinist Humor in American Literature Michael Dunne, 2007-12 Though the phrase Calvinist humor may seem to be an oxymoron Michael Dunne in highly original and unfailingly interesting readings of major American fiction writers uncovers and traces two recurrent strands of Calvinist humor descending from Puritan times far into the twentieth century Calvinist doctrine views mankind as fallen apt to engage in any number of imperfect behaviors Calvinist humor Dunne explains consists in the perception of this imperfection When we perceive that only others are imperfect we participate in the form of Calvinist humor preferred by William Bradford and Nathanael West When we perceive that others are imperfect as we all are we participate in the form preferred by Mark Twain and William Faulkner for example Either by noting their characters inferiority or by observing ways in which we are all far from perfect Dunne observes American writers have found much to laugh about and many occasions for Calvinist humor The two strains of Calvinist humor are alike in making the faults of others more important than their virtues They differ in terms of what we might think of as the writer perceiver s disposition his or her willingness to recognize the same faults in him or herself In addition to Bradford West Twain and Faulkner Dunne discovers Calvinist humor in the works of Flannery O Connor Herman Melville Nathaniel Hawthorne Ernest Hemingway and many others For these authors the world and thus their fiction is populated with flawed creatures Even after belief in orthodox Calvinism diminished in the twentieth century Dunne discovers American writers continued to mine these veins irrespective of the authors religious affiliations or lack of them Dunne notes that even when these writers fail to accept the Calvinist view wholeheartedly they still have a tendency to see some version of Calvinism as more attractive than an optimistic idealistic view of life With an eye for the telling detail and a wry humor of his own Dunne clearly demonstrates that the fundamental Calvinist assumption that human beings are fallen from some putatively better state has had a surprising lingering presence in American literature

Prose Britannica Educational Publishing, 2011-05-01 Narratives come in many forms fall into many genres and tell the stories of an endless assortment of characters Despite recurring themes and conceits in works from around the world each story from biography to science fiction is singular and designed to elicit a distinct emotional response from its readers The rhetorical tools and literary styles that have helped reinvent the art and study of storytelling over time are surveyed in this captivating volume

Ethics for Business and Public Administration David M. Boje, 2008-08-28 A volume in Ethics in Practice Series Editors Robert A Giacalone Temple University and Carole L Jurkiewicz Louisiana State University The purpose of this book is to develop ethical traditions based on Kant Horkheimer and others to extend beyond the level of individual behavior to address the social system level in business and public administration It is not enough to try to be good or ethical as individuals when it is systemic processes which are fostering unethical behavior Horkheimer's books Eclipse of Reason and Critique of Instrumental Reason and his early and now classic essay Materialism and Morality ask for a reformation of Kantian ethics. The reform is sought because the categorical imperative within the context of an individualism capitalism serves to worsen the difference between business ethics and moral philosophy. Therefore Horkheimer asks that the maxims that would be made universal would be done at the level of people organizing with others. This is the level addressed in this volume as we seek to change the system that is producing and reproducing unethical behaviors. Narrating the Past Nandita Batra, Vartan P. Messier, 2007. Narrative constitutes an integral part of human existence being omnipresent in our ordering of the world and the ways in which we transmit both knowledge and experience. Narrative construction has challenged the supremacy of empirical fact and has questioned our ability to know the past. As it really was. Examining a wide range of texts from ancient Greece and medieval Britain to contemporary America Asia Australia Britain and the Caribbean the essays in this volume address the inconsistencies in master narratives to reveal that all representations of the past like knowledge are situated. Criticism Charles Kaplan, 1972. Intertextual Encounters in American Fiction, Film, and Popular Culture Michael Dunne, 2001. Intertextual encounters occur whenever an author or the author's text recognizes references alludes to imitates parodies or otherwise elicits an audience member's familiarity with other texts. F. Scott Fitzgerald and Nathanael West use the fiction of Horatio Alger Jr. as an intertext in their novels The Great Gatsby and A Cool Million. Callie Khouri and Ridley Scott use the buddy road picture genre as an intertext for their Thelma and Louise. In all these cases intertextual encounters take place between artists between texts between texts and audiences between artists and audiences. Michael Dunne investigates works from the 1830s to the 1990s and from the canonical American novel to Bugs Bunny and Jerry Seinfeld. Prism(s), 2002. The Gavel of Delta Sigma Rho, 1913. Lagos Review of English Studies, 2008. The Gavel Delta Sigma Rho, 1928.
