The Future of Work Inka Knappertsbusch, Gerlind Wisskirchen, 2024-12-01 This book takes readers on a journey into the future of work. Following the influence of the COVID-19 pandemic, working conditions have become more flexible than ever before. The freedoms granted within this framework continue to be demanded by many employees. There are also numerous companies that have had predominantly positive experiences with this change and would like to continue with it. Against this backdrop, it is to be expected that the shift away from a traditional working environment due to the four influencing factors of demographic change, skills shortages, digitalisation, and artificial intelligence will accelerate in the future. This book provides an overview of the various design options for New Work and highlights their respective advantages and disadvantages. It also analyses new trends and forecasts relating to the future of work. In addition, the relevant legal framework is presented in a concise and easy-to-understand manner. This book provides you with the tools you need to actively shape the future of work in your company in a legally compliant manner. The editors: Dr Inka Knappertsbusch is a lawyer specializing in employment law and employee data protection at the international commercial law firm CMS Germany. She advises companies primarily on restructuring and works agreements, in particular on issues related to IT and new work. Her work also focuses on data protection and artificial intelligence in employment relationships. She is the co-editor of the book Arbeitswelt und KI 2030. Dr Gerlind Wisskirchen is a partner and lawyer at the international commercial law firm CMS Germany and advises multinational corporations in particular on restructuring, national and international employment law, and compliance issues.

She is also an expert on the digitalisation of the world of work with experience as a keynote speaker author and lecturer and is the editor of the report Artificial Intelligence and Robotics and Their Impact on the Workplace for the Global Employment Institute The translation was done with the help of artificial intelligence A subsequent human revision was done primarily in terms of content

Applications of Career Transitions and Entrepreneurship Tunio, Muhammad Nawaz, 2025-02-21

In today's rapidly evolving professional landscape, career transitions and entrepreneurship have become essential drivers of personal and economic success. The ability to adapt to new roles and industries, coupled with an entrepreneurial spirit of innovation and self-direction, shapes not only individual career paths but also the broader economic climate. As technological advancements and global shifts disrupt traditional industries, professionals must embrace flexibility and lifelong learning to thrive. Mastering these dynamics is crucial for transforming challenges into opportunities and fostering sustained growth and innovation.

Applications of Career Transitions and Entrepreneurship explores the factors driving career changes, the principles of entrepreneurship, and the synergy between them, providing ethical frameworks, strategies, and best practices for managing transitions and fostering innovation. Designed for HR professionals, researchers, policymakers, and technology developers, it fills a gap in existing literature by addressing the ethical dimensions and practical implications of career dynamics and entrepreneurial endeavors. Whether the goal is to pivot a career, launch a new venture, or develop policies for a resilient workforce, this publication equips readers with the knowledge and tools necessary to navigate career journeys with confidence and purpose.

Employee Retention in Change Management Processes. Practical Experience Michael Kurwan, 2023-04-21

Document from the year 2023 in the subject Leadership and Human Resources. Leadership language: English. abstract: Retaining employees for the long term within the framework of change management processes is a challenging management task. In change management processes, a fundamental distinction must be made between incremental change management and radical change management. While incremental change happens continuously and is integrated into everyday work, radical change represents a strategic realignment of the company, which is predominantly associated with staff reductions and is intended to change the corporate culture. This is particularly true in the case of turnarounds, where cost-cutting programs play a crucial role in ensuring the long-term survival of the company. Employees are more willing to go along with incremental change, also known as continuous improvement, than with radical change, as these could also be affected by staff reductions. This stirs up fears among employees and therefore often leads to high turnover. Therefore, it is important for management to actively involve employees in the changes to empower them to act as change agents so that they can actively shape the change To do this it is crucial to identify the key personnel that a company cannot do without The management and key personnel are given the task of actively accompanying the company's employees on the journey of change so that the company can grow sustainably again from a lower level after the strategic realignment so that the remaining employees have a prosperous future Open communication and excellent transparency on the part of the management which should also act as a unit help to bring the employees along on the change journey in a targeted manner However experience has shown that 50% of all change management projects in the industry fail and 20% are implemented inadequately due to two crucial reasons namely power struggles within management and resistance from employees For this reason it is imperative that a company's management team select a leadership coalition of similarly rational members who also have sufficient empathy to successfully manage the change management process which must be done together with employees and should not be directed against them The guiding coalition should develop a common strategic vision and practice a participative way of working involving everyone since the goal of transformation is to change the thinking of employees and transformation can only be brought about together with employees
