Women and Gender in International History Karen Garner, 2018-06-28 Most governments and global political organizations have been dominated by male leaders and structures that institutionalize male privilege As Women and Gender in International History reveals however women have participated in and influenced the traditional concerns of international history even as they have expanded those concerns in new directions Karen Garner provides a timely synthesis of key scholarship and establishes the influential roles that women and gender power relations have wielded in determining the course of international history From the early 20th century onward women have participated in state to state relations and decisions about when to pursue diplomacy or when to go to war to settle international conflicts Particular women as well as masculine and feminine gender role constructs have also influenced the establishment and evolution of intergovernmental organizations and their political social and economic policy making regimes and agencies Additionally feminists have critiqued male dominated diplomatic establishment and intergovernmental organizations and have proposed alternative theories and practices This text integrates women and gender and feminist analyses into the study of international history in order to produce a broader understanding of processes of international change during the 20th and 21st centuries The Korean War Steven Hugh Lee, 2013-12-02 Tens of thousands of US soldiers and untold millions of Koreans died in this war the first major arena of the East West conflict This concise international history of the war offers a new approach to its understanding tracing its origins and dynamics to the interplay between modern Korean history and twentieth century world history The narrative also uniquely examines the social history of the conflict and includes material on the newly racially integrated US fighting forces war and disease women and war and life in the Prisoner of War camps While most surveys stop at 1953 with the signing of the armistice Steven Hugh Lee carries the story through to the Geneva Conference in the spring of 1954 the last major international effort before recent years to negotiate a permanent peace for the Korean peninsula
