Crisis Of The Arab Intellectual:

The Crisis of the Arab Intellectual Abd Allah Arawi, Abdallah Laroui, 'Abd Allāh 'Arawī, 'Abdallāh al- 'Arawī, 1976-01-01
This book intends to review the meaning of contemporary in Arab intellectual history. It presents a classification of four periods in modern Arab intellectual history: they are the following: 1. Nahda, the great Arab renaissance period from 1850 to 1914. The Nahda sought through translation and vulgarization to assimilate the great achievements of modern European civilization. 2. The period between the two wars, characterized by the development of thoughts which played a leading role in social movements, especially in nationalist movements. 3. The period of the Arab nationalist experiments on the unionist ideology. 4. The period of moral and political crisis after the defeat in the 1967 War. The central thesis of this book is that the concept of history, a concept playing a capital role in modern thought, is in fact peripheral to all the ideologies that have dominated the Arab world till now.

The Crisis of the Arab Intellectual Abdallah Laroui, 1974 The Crisis of the Arab Intellectual Abdallah Laroui, 1977-01-01 The Crisis of the Arab Intellectual Abd Allah Arawi, 1976 Desiring Arabs Joseph A. Massad, 2008-09-15. Sexual desire has long played a key role in Western judgments about the value of Arab civilization. In the past, Westerners viewed the Arab world as licentious, and Western intolerance of sex led them to brand Arabs as decadent. But as Western society became more sexually open, the supposedly prudish Arabs soon became viewed as backward. Rather than focusing exclusively on how these views developed in the West, in Desiring Arabs Joseph A. Massad reveals the history of how Arabs represented their own sexual desires. To this aim, he assembles a massive and diverse compendium of Arabic writing from the nineteenth century to the present in order to chart the changes in Arab sexual attitudes and their links to Arab notions of cultural heritage and civilization. A work of impressive scope and erudition, Massad's chronicle of both the history and modern permutations of the debate over representations of sexual desires and practices in the Arab world is a crucial addition to our understanding of a frequently oversimplified and vilified culture. A pioneering work on a very timely yet frustratingly neglected topic, I know of no other study that can even begin to compare with the detail and scope of this work. Khaled El Rouayheb, Middle East Report. In Desiring Arabs, Edward Said's disciple Joseph A. Massad corroborates his mentor's thesis that orientalist writing was racist and dehumanizing. Massad brilliantly goes on to trace the legacy of this racist, internalized orientalist discourse up to the present. Financial Times.

The Arabs in Israel Jacob M. Landau, 2015-07-24. This book, first published in 1969, presents a comprehensive survey and analysis of the political behaviour of the Arabs in Israel, covering the period from the founding of the State to the Six Day War in 1967. While the socio-economic background is outlined, the chief emphasis is on the political attitudes of this minority and its reactions to the modernization of political structures. The main chapters deal with adaptation versus alienation, cultural change and its reflection in politics, political organizations, voting behaviour in parliamentary, local and trade union elections, leadership, and the foci of political activity. Materials used for research included the Israeli press, both in Arabic and Hebrew, the literature produced by the
