Critics On Emerson Readings In Literary Criticism 20:

Walt Whitman and Emily Dickinson Agnieszka Salska, 2016-11-11 Agnieszka Salska's illuminating study of the patterns of consciousness in the poetry of two major nineteenth century American poets borrows from Northrop Frye's phrase the structure of the poet's imagination. Walt Whitman and Emily Dickinson the first extensive book comparing the two poets builds on the shorter works by Karl Keller and Albert Gelpi and is further augmented by Salska's outside viewpoint from her native Poland. Her extensive research in the United States in 1984 ensures the timeliness of the work and makes the study truly valuable. That Dickinson and Whitman shared a common ground of aspiration for existential wholeness is made clearer to twentieth century readers by Salska's argument which traces the poets' heritage from Ralph Waldo Emerson. Although both poets begin with the same vision that the artist's mind is solely responsible for the organization of the universe their realizations of that image diverge radically. Salska's keen judicious observations add much to our understanding of the poets both as individuals and as contemporaries. Her book will be of great interest to students of Whitman and Dickinson poetry and American literature. The clarity of style makes the book invaluable to undergraduates, graduate students and scholars in general.

As with any body of scholarship various schools of thought exist and sometimes conflict within it. I. R. Makaryk has compiled a welcome guide to the field. Accessible and jargon free the Encyclopedia of Contemporary Literary Theory provides lucid concise explanations of myriad approaches to literature that have arisen over the past forty years. Some 170 scholars from around the world have contributed their expertise to this volume. Their work is organized into three parts. In Part I forty evaluative essays examine the historical and cultural context out of which new schools of and approaches to literature arose. The essays also discuss the uses and limitations of the various schools and the key issues they address. Part II focuses on individual theorists. It provides a more detailed picture of the network of scholars not always easily pigeonholed into the categories of Part I This second section analyses the individual achievements as well as the influence of specific scholars and places them in a larger critical context Part III deals with the vocabulary of literary theory It identifies significant complex terms places them in context and explains their origins and use Accessibility is a key feature of the work By avoiding jargon providing mini bibliographies and cross referencing throughout Makaryk has provided an indispensable tool for literary theorists and historians and for all scholars and students of contemporary criticism and culture      Subject Index of Modern Books Acquired British Library,1971
