Cross Media Revolution Ownership And Control:

The Cross Media Revolution Tim Congdon, 1995 Public debate on questions of media concentration and ownership at a time when technology is revolutionising media opportunities Will press and broadcasting interests converge What are the principles for judging what is required of our media

Media Ownership and Control in the Age of Convergence International Institute of Communications, 1996 Telecommunications broadcasting and the print media continue to merge in technical functional and organisational terms This book examines media ownership policy and regulation to explore how the global media will be controlled and by whom

Convergence in European Digital TV Regulation Christopher T. Marsden, Stefaan G. Verhulst, 1999 Analyzing the role of governments in the regulation of the new Information Society the ten chapters in this book stem from a seminar hosted by the European Media Regulation Seminar Group ESRG at the University of Warwick Each chapter explores the regulatory responses of the UK government and the EU to commercial technical and market convergence in the broadcasting telecommunications print media and computing sectors The text focuses on the establishment of satellite pay TV telecommunications and the launch of digital terrestrial TV as they blend real and cyber governance

Broadcasting Pluralism and Diversity Lesley Hitchens, 2006-10-31 Broadcasting Pluralism and Diversity is a study of the policy and regulatory measures relating to the promotion of media diversity in three jurisdictions the United Kingdom the United States and Australia A central focus of the book is regulation of media ownership and control and taking an historical approach the book argues that early policy and regulatory decisions continue to have a significant influence on current reforms Whilst policy and reform debates focus on ownership and control measures the book also argues that such measures can not be considered in isolation from other regulatory instruments and that a holistic regulatory approach is required As such content regulation and competition regulation are also considered Underlying the study is the contention that much of the policy informing pluralism and diversity regulation although making reference to the importance of the media's role in the democratic process has also been skewed by a futile focus on the different regulatory treatment of the press and broadcasting which is adversely influencing current policy debates The book argues that a different approach using the public sphere concept needs to be adopted and used as a measure against which regulatory reform in the changing media environment can be assessed

Media Convergence Handbook - Vol. 2 Artur Lugmayr, Cinzia Dal Zotto, 2016-05-11 The Media Convergence Handbook sheds new light on the complexity of media convergence and the related business challenges Approaching the topic from a managerial technological as well as end consumer perspective it acts as a reference book and educational resource in the field Media convergence at business level may imply transforming business models and using multiplatform content production and distribution tools However it is shown that the implementation of convergence strategies can only succeed when expectations and aspirations of every actor involved are taken into account Media consumers content producers and managers face different challenges in the process of media convergence Volume II of the Media Convergence Handbook tackles these challenges by discussing media business models production and users experience and perspectives from a technological convergence viewpoint

Regulating Audiovisual Services Thomas Gibbons,2023-07-14 In recent years the changing nature of audiovisual services has had a significant impact on regulatory policy and practice The adoption of digital technology means that broadcasting cable satellite the Internet and mobile telephony are converging enabling each of them to deliver the same kinds of content and allowing users to exercise much greater choice over the kind of material that they receive and when they receive it The essays examine the implications for regulatory design asking whether there is still a role for traditional style state controls or whether other techniques such as competition in the market and self regulation are more appropriate They also explore how in the digital era structural issues of media ownership and control become problems of access and interconnection between services and how content regulation focuses more on problems raised by the interactions between providers and users the relationship between freedom of information and technologies to control it and the international reach of the new media

Changing Channels Jeanette Steemers,1998 Changing Channels explores the potential impact of technological and structural change on audiovisual media in the light of the increasing likelihood of convergence between telecommunications broadcasting and computing

RSA Journal Royal Society of Arts (Great Britain),1996

Television and Media Concentration ,2001 This comparative study covers both analog and digital television and all types of broadcasting terrestrial as well as satellite and cable It describes a range of models for regulating media concentration as developed in five major European television markets It also presents the relevant EC rules and European Commission decisions as well as chapters on the regulations developed in the USA and in the Russian Federation Publisher s description

The Role of Public Service Broadcasting in the Information Society Josephine Dries,Runar Woldt,1996

Media Regulation, Public Interest, and the Law Mike Feintuck (d),Mike Whitehouse,1999 This book argues that regulators will successfully protect the values of privatization only if citizenship is recognized as the rationale and objective for the regulatory endeavor Mike Feintuck fully considers the actual and potential utility of legal mechanisms in the design and implementation of regulatory institutions

Media International Australia ,2000

Broadcasting, Society and Policy in the Multimedia Age Andrew Graham,Gavyn Davies,1997

The Role of Culture and Political Institutions in Media Policy Theomary Karamanis,2003 Table of contents

The Media Reader Hugh Mackay,Tim O'Sullivan,1999-07-06 This essential sourcebook of key statements about transformations in media culture focuses on questions of democracy technology and culture It provides theoretical approaches to past and present media transformations and case studies of a range of media examining both old media in new times and emerging new media It explores the technological economic social and cultural processes implicated in the production regulation circulation and consumption of media forms

The Dynamics of Regulation George Gantzias,2001 The new technologies and the liberalization of the broadcasting and telecommunications market together with the digitalization and globalization of new services have challenged irrevocably not only the traditional markets and instructional structures but also the legal systems of broadcasting and telecommunication sectors in the 21st century This text examines and analyzes how regulations have been developed mainly at national level and in particular the regulation of British broadcasting and television advertising in the deregulation re regulation and liberalization era It takes into account changes in digital broadcasting and telecommunication by pointing out that convergence is the process through which broadcasting telecommunication press and information sectors are transformed into new sectors info com arteries info com products info com services and info com content in order to be fully compatible with the emerging new info communication industry in the digital transformation and info communication era It also recommends a new definition and a set of global principals of public interest in info communication policy together with the regulatory model process and product regulation as useful analytical tools for future research projects on the dynamics of regulation and the emerging new info communication policy in the 21st century

Regulating Access to Digital Television European Audiovisual Observatory,2004 This report sets out the findings of a workshop held in Amsterdam in September 2003 and organised by the Institute for Information Law and the European Audiovisual Observatory to discuss access issues regarding media concentration in the digital television sector in Europe Topics consider technical legal and economic dimensions as well as possible approaches to regulation including the new EC Access Directive the application of European competition law or the more laissez faire approach favoured in the United States Perspectives of Public Service Television in Europe Runar Woldt,1998 Regulating the Media Thomas Gibbons,1998 International Company and Commercial Law Review provides corporate and commercial lawyers with analysis on recent developments in international company and commercial law Contains articles analyses book reviews and a news section with contributions from over 30 country correspondents from around the world Public Relations Review Foundation for Public Relations Research and Education (U.S.),2001
