Discourse Analysis And Evaluation Functional Approaches:

Discourse Analysis and Evaluation Henk Pander Maat, Leo Lentz, 1997 Functional approaches to the study of language may not only be used to characterize discourse structures but also to assess their communicative quality In fact discourse analysis and evaluation are conceptually related activities In this volume the link between analysis and evaluation is explored in seven studies discussing a variety of discourse genres like package inserts telephone openings survey interviews meetings government brochures and direct mail letters The analytical concepts used stem from different strands of research into language including cognitive linguistics pragmalinguistics conversational analysis and persuasion research Critical

Discourse and Corpus Approaches to Systemic Functional Grammar Chenguang Chang, Josef Schmied, Matthias Hofmann, 2021-03-18 The present volume draws on the experience of the Workshop held in Germany in late 2018 to combine the specialisations of the two linguistic research teams of the two partner universities Sun Yat sen University in China and Chemnitz University of Technology in Germany It combines more theoretical approaches by experienced scholars and case studies by young researchers on topics and texts on current Chinese developments The contributions can also serve as a general model for open and critical international and intercultural academic discourse Children's composing José van der Hoeven, 2022-06-13 In this volume a relatively new approach to writing process research is attempted time is included as a very important factor in describing the writing process The link between the writing process of 12 year old students the quality of the compositions and writing skills is investigated in six studies discussing the importance of genre knowledge linguistic skills and cognitive skills in writing Including linguistic and cognitive skills gives new perspectives on the relationship between the writing process and the resulting composition The concepts used in these studies are drawn from the fields of both linguistics and cognitive psychology Passive and Perspective Louise H. Cornelis, 1997 The passive construction in Dutch represents a long standing problem both in linguistics and in written communications This book proposes a new analysis of the passive in Dutch integrating insights from theoretical especially cognitive linguistics and rhetoric composition The point of departure is the observation that the Dutch passive has a demonstrable perspective effect in texts the passive discourages identification with the agent and this in fact is the meaning of the Dutch passive construction This meaning forms the basis for a solution to a number of text problems including the problem of how to best use the passive in computer manuals We can also understand the passive's role in specific texts For example it becomes clear why policy paper writers use so many passives Finally in one of the case studies it is shown why passives were used differently in the NRC Handelsblad a Rotterdam daily newspaper and in the Parool from Amsterdam when they both reported that Ajax Amsterdam's football team became the national soccer champion Reader feedback in text design Menno de

Jong, 2022-06-08 Brochures play a significant role in governmental public information provision Every year many brochures are distributed to inform instruct or persuade people These brochures may benefit from a systematic design process including applied research such as pretesting Among communication professionals the importance of pretesting is practically undisputed Readers from the target audience are assumed to provide valuable insights into whether a document really works Organizations therefore increasingly try to include a pretest in the design process of important documents Various pretest methods have been developed and are being used in practice However little is known yet about the merits and restrictions of the available approaches This book provides a framework for scholarly research into pretesting and presents a series of studies into the validity of one particular pretest instrument a combination of the plus minus method and a semi structured questionnaire This is one of the prevailing pretest approaches in the Dutch public information sector The validity of the pretest instrument is assessed in two complementary ways First the question is addressed as to whether a revision on the basis of pretest results actually leads to an improvement in the functional quality of brochures Second a study is presented in which text and subject matter experts judge the importance of pretest results The pretest instrument appears to yield a large amount and a great variety of reader feedback which in a subsequent revision may contribute to significant improvements in the effectiveness of brochures

Language, Education and Discourse Joseph Foley, 2005-12-05 This collection of essays by leading functional linguists presents the latest perspectives on language and discourse in educational settings The book questions the idea of discourse to reveal that the social processes of learning are imbued with the ideologies of the society and education system within which learning takes place The contributors take into account the historical and cross cultural perspectives of both classroom practices and the student's own awareness of the ideological meanings of language activities

Language Education and Discourse is divided into two sections Part one covers early childhood and the growing development of a language system from the basic semiotic system of the infant This is followed by an analysis of the beginnings of literacy in kindergarten the introduction to writing in primary school and the ideological content of reading material Part two furthers this analysis by looking at discourse in secondary and tertiary education The contributors pose questions about the role and importance of teaching grammar in the school system and finally examine how to refine the discourse of education This book will be useful to academics interested in the latest functional perspectives on language as it is used in education

Computational Linguistics, 1998 Word, 2000 Constructions, Constraints, and Construal Maaïke Laura Beliën, 2008 Perspectives on Prepositions H. Cuyckens, Günter Radden, 2002

In the past two decades the study of prepositions has grown steadily. The papers collected in this volume bring together the multifaceted perspectives on prepositions that have been developed in contemporary linguistics. Some papers mainly discuss syntactic and morphological aspects of prepositions; other papers predominantly focus on cognitive aspects. All the papers are however concerned with the semantics of prepositions. This volume evolved from a workshop on prepositions held at Hamburg University on June 26 and 27 1998.

Pragmatics at Work María Pilar Navarro Errasti, Rosa Lorés Sanz, Silvia Murillo Ornat, 2004

This volume is a collection of eight articles on the general topic of translation. The common element running through them all is the analysis of samples of tourist literature and their translations from a pragmatic point of view. The languages concerned are mainly English and Spanish but examples of German and French texts are also included. The theoretical approaches are multifaceted. Relevance theory, systemic functional linguistics and discourse analysis are some of the theoretical standpoints taken as a background. The book covers phenomena as varied as translation quality assessment, audience design and perlocutionary effects, dealing also with more specific features like thematic structure, inference and propositional meaning, discourse markers and grammatical metaphor in order to provide a wide range of analyses for the specialised reader.
