Discourse The Body And Identity:

Discourse, the Body, and Identity J. Coupland, R. Gwyn, 2002-12-17 The body and discourse seem diametrically opposed but we interact with our bodies and represent ourselves and our relationships in bodily terms This volume integrates new studies by leading researchers in sociolinguistics sociology social psychology and cultural theory It explores the many interfaces of body and discourse organized under three main themes the body as an interactional resource ideological representations of the body and discursive constructions of the body in normal and pathological contexts BODY AND IDENTITY ON THE INTERNET. THEORIES, DISCOURSE, EVERYDAY LIFE Seweryn Rudnicki, 2013 Scripting the Black Masculine Body Ronald L. Jackson, 2006-01-01 Traces the origins of Black body politics in the United States and its contemporary manifestations in hip hop music and film Subjectivity, Identity, and the Body Sidonie Smith, 1993 Identity, Health and Women J. Christodoulou, 2010-10-06 This book provides a three part investigation into identity construction Theory voice and praxis are all represented as the book follows the rationale stories and narrative methodology of the study of a group of women The final part of the book presents a new model of identity construction framed in women's health identity Identity Matters Donna LeCourt, 2004-03-29 Blends memoir and scholarship to provide a moving and sometimes unsettling look at how academic discourse affects the cultural values and identities that students bring into the writing classroom Township Spiritualities and Counseling Christina Landman, 2009 Constituting Identity Patrick Hanafin, 2001 Provides an in depth analysis of the constitutional representation of Ireland and its citizens In a society built on contradictions it is appropriate that the so called foundational document of the polity is itself a complex of conflicting positions The Irish Constitution can in this sense be read in a manner similar to the texts of literary modernism as a repository of irreconcilable ideas which together make up the text Discourse, Resistance and Identity Formation Jerome Satterthwaite, Wendy Martin, Lorna Roberts, 2006 This fifth volume in the Discourse Power Resistance series considers how teachers and learners are under relentless pressure to conform their professional identity to a model imposed by policymakers The book deals with the fundamental question facing teachers and learners worldwide who are we what are we supposed to be doing why Policymakers offer stultifying answers to these questions based on a narrow instrumental view of education that is viewed by teachers and learners with growing anger and dismay What is to be done The official view and the discourse through which that view is articulated is shown in this book to be weighty and vacuous at the same time a massively ponderous discursive absurdity Consequently this book goes on to offer wide ranging and serious strategies of resistance The book encourages faculty and students in universities and partner institutions involved in teaching training and or carrying out research in all areas of education It will appeal to staff and students involved in training for compulsory and post compulsory vocational education and lifelong learning and to lecturers in all areas of Higher Education with an interest in issues of policy and identity formation The contributors are David Selby Cheryl Hunt Christina Schwabenland Eileen
