Paradata and Transparency in Virtual Heritage Anna Bentkowska-Kafel, Hugh Denard, Drew Baker, 2012
Computer Generated Images (CGIs) are widely used and accepted in the world of entertainment, but the use of the very same visualization techniques in academic research in the Arts and Humanities remains controversial. The techniques and conceptual perspectives on heritage visualization are a subject of an ongoing interdisciplinary debate. By demonstrating scholarly excellence and best technical practice in this area, this volume is concerned with the challenge of providing intellectual transparency and accountability in visualization-based historical research. Addressing a range of cognitive and technological challenges, the authors make a strong case for a wider recognition of three-dimensional visualization as a constructive intellectual process and valid methodology for historical research and its communication.
