Good Faith and Insurance Contracts Peter MacDonald Eggers, Simon Picken, 2017-12-06 Good Faith and Insurance Contracts sets out an exhaustive analysis of the law concerning the duty of utmost good faith as applied to insurance contracts Now in its fourth edition it has been updated to address the arrival of the Insurance Act 2015 as well as any references to new case law In addition it synthesises all known judicial decisions by the English Courts concerning good faith in this area This book is still the only text devoted to a discussion of the duty of utmost good faith applicable to insurance contracts As good faith is an issue which arises in respect of all insurance contracts it is a book which will be extremely useful to lawyers involved in insurance as well as insurance practitioners

Lloyd's Maritime and Commercial Law Quarterly, 2007

Insurance Contract Law Great Britain. Law Commission, 2012 This joint discussion paper covers the following issues the business insured's duty of disclosure and the law of warranties Under current law a business policyholder has a duty to disclose every material circumstance it knows about the risk it wants to insure Failure to do so entitles the insurer to avoid the contract which means the insurer may treat it as if it did not exist and refuse all claims The duty is unclear and sometimes poorly understood while the consequence of breach is too harsh The proposals aim to clarify how policyholders are expected to comply with the duty when presenting a risk to insurers and to encourage insurers to assist them in that task Fairer remedies for breach where the policyholder has not been dishonest are proposed An insurance warranty is an important term which unless exactly complied with by the policyholder results in the automatic discharge of the insurer's liability for loss It makes no difference if the breach is trivial not material to the risk or if the policyholder remedies the breach prior to loss being incurred The Commissions propose that breach of a warranty should suspend the insurer's liability for the duration of the breach remedy of the breach restores liability Where a term is designed to reduce a particular type of risk liability should only be suspended in relation to that risk This would be mandatory for consumer
