Carey, M. Ellis, S. Salih, 2004-05-25 Discourses of Slavery and Abolition brings together for the first time the most important strands of current thinking on the relationship between slavery and categories of writing oratory and visual culture in the long Eighteenth century The book begins by examining writing about slavery and race by both philosophers and by authors such as Aphra Behn It considers self representation in the works of Ignatius Sancho Olaudah Equiano James Williams and Mary Prince The final section reads literary and cultural texts associated with the abolition movements of the Eighteenth and Nineteenth centuries moving beyond traditional accounts of the documents of that movement to show the importance of religious writing children s literature and the relationship between art and abolition The Woman and the Hour Caroline Roberts, 2002-01-01 Roberts situates Martineau s controversial writing in its historical context and presents a sophisticated scholarly analysis of their predominantly hostile reception Romanticism and Slave Narratives Helen Thomas, 2000-04-27 The first major attempt to relate canonical Romantic texts to writings of the African diaspora The Woman as Slave in Nineteenth-Century American Social Movements Ana Stevenson, 2020-02-03 This book is the first to develop a history of the analogy between woman and slave charting its changing meanings and enduring implications across the social movements of the long nineteenth century Looking beyond its foundations in the antislavery and women s rights movements this book examines the influence of the woman slave analogy in popular culture along with its use across the dress reform labor suffrage free love racial uplift and anti vice movements At once provocative and commonplace the woman slave analogy was used to exceptionally varied ends in the era of chattel slavery and slave emancipation Yet as this book reveals a more diverse assembly of reformers both accepted and embraced a woman as slave worldview than has previously been appreciated One of the most significant yet controversial rhetorical strategies in the history of feminism the legacy of the woman slave analogy continues to underpin the debates that shape feminist theory today Women Writers and the Early Modern British Political Tradition Hilda L. Smith, 1998-03-26 This collection of essays includes studies of women s political writings from Christine de Pizan to Mary Wollstonecraft and explores in depth the political ideas of the writers in their historical and intellectual context The volume illuminates the limitations placed on women s political writings and their broader political role by the social and scholarly institutions of early modern Europe In so doing the authors probe legal and political restraints distinct national and state organisation and assumptions concerning women s proper intellectual interests In this endeavour the volume explores questions and subjects traditionally ignored by historians of political thought and little considered even by current feminist theorists groups who give slight attention to women s political ideas or place women s writings within the social and intellectual structures from which they emerged and which they helped to shape

Imagining Grace Kimberly Rae Connor,2000 In this subtle and illuminating study Kimberly Rae Connor surveys examples of contemporary literature drama art and music that extend the literary tradition of African American slave narratives Revealing the powerful creative links between this tradition and liberation theology s search for grace she shows how these artworks profess a liberating theology of racial empathy and reconciliation even if not in traditionally Christian or sacred language From Frederick Douglass s autobiographical writings through Richard Wright s imaginative reconstruction of slavery to Ernest Gaines s Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman and the candescent novels of Toni Morrison slave narratives exhort the reader to step into the experience of the dispossessed Connor underscores the broad influence of the slave narrative by considering nonliterary as well as literary works including Glenn Ligon s introspective art Anna Deavere Smith s one woman performance pieces and Charlie Haden s politically engaged Liberation Music Orchestra Through these works readers listeners and viewers imagine grace on two levels as the liberation of the enslaved from oppression and as their own liberation from prejudice and willed innocence Calling to task a complacent white society that turns a blind eye to deep seated and continuing racial inequalities Imagining Grace shows how these creative endeavors embody the search for grace seeking to expose racism in all its guises and lay claim to political intellectual and spiritual freedom
