Disent Les Imbeciles Nathalie Sarraute, 1976      Disent les imbéciles Nathalie Sarraute, 1976      Nathalie Sarraute and the Feminist Reader Sarah Barbour, 1993

Situated at an intersection of feminist critical practice in the United States and feminist cultural theory in France Nathalie Sarraute and the Feminist Reader is an investigation of the way in which this French New Novelist's first eight works in their increasing dramatization of the issue of reading problematize certain feminist literary analyses especially in relation to l'écriture féminine After an exploration of the difficulty Sarraute's writing poses for the critical enterprise through a lengthy reading of Sarrautian criticism in the U S and France Sarah Barbour shows how Sarraute's works eventually prohibit any fixed reading and open up instead a space in which we as readers are moved toward a more personal understanding of our use of narrative and of socio sexual constructs in the continual day to day constitution and reconstitution of subjectivity Nathalie Sarraute conceives of the evolution of the novel as a movement through history and thus situates her work within a tradition of psychological realism at the same time that she proposes radical innovations of the tradition Her novels do not discard or revise past works but rather internalize them in an effort to expand the notion of what is possible for psychological realism This study takes as its model Sarraute's example of simultaneity which invites an understanding of time both as a diachronic movement through phases from the psychological realism of Dostoyevski to that of Kafka to her own and as a synchronic encounter that elicits simultaneous relationships to different phases Within the movement of feminist literary criticism scholars have often discerned what are also referred to as phases that is criticism in the United States has moved from its initial concern with images of women in fiction by male writers to a desire to establish a feminine tradition of women's writing Nathalie Sarraute and the Feminist Reader is not an attempt to claim that Sarraute's work represents écriture féminine Reading Sarraute's novels in their evolution Sarah Barbour has found that they forced her own reading and understanding of this term to evolve She therefore proposes that the novels open up a space that is beyond the frozen shells of gender which continue to bind women and men personally and critically The power of Sarraute's work lies in the solitary experience of our encounter with her presentation and perception of reality In this encounter we are forced to experience the fluid nature of subjectivity that is to internalize and explore differences within personal and sexual identity that by extension affect the identity of larger political movements      The Nouveau Roman and the Poetics of Fiction ,      Nathalie Sarraute, Fiction and Theory Ann Jefferson, 2000-07-03

Nathalie Sarraute 1900-99 is regarded as one of the major French novelists of the twentieth century Initially hailed as a leading theorist and exemplar of the nouveau roman she has come to be regarded as an important author in her own right with her own distinctive concerns In this major 2000 study of Sarraute the first in English since her death Ann Jefferson offers a fresh perspective on Sarraute's entire oeuvre her novels her outstanding autobiography Enfance and her influential critical writings by focusing on the crucial issue of difference which emerges as one of her central preoccupations Drawing on a variety of critical approaches Jefferson explores Sarraute's fundamental ambivalence to differences of various kinds including questions of gender and genre She argues that difference is simultaneously asserted and denied in Sarraute's work and that the notion of difference so often celebrated by other writers and thinkers is shown in Sarraute's work to be inseparable from ambiguity and anxiety

Barbara Wright Debra Kelly, Madeleine Renouard, 2013-08-01 Legendary publisher and writer John Calder said of Barbara Wright that she was the most brilliant conscientious and original translator of 20th century French literature Wright introduced to an English speaking readership and audience some of the most innovative French literature of the last hundred years a world without Alfred Jarry's Ubu Roi Raymond Queneau's Zazie and Robert Pinget's Monsieur Songe scarcely bears thinking about This wonderful collection of texts about and by Barbara Wright including work by David Bellos Breon Mitchell and Nick Wadley as well as a previously unpublished screenplay written and translated by Wright in collaboration with Robert Pinget begins the work of properly commemorating a figure toward whom all of English letters owes an unpayable debt

Association des idées chez les idiots et les imbéciles M. Boulenger, Paul Hermant, 1906

Thresholds of Meaning Jean Duffy, 2011-06-16 Thresholds of Meaning examines contemporary French narrative and explores two related issues the centrality within recent French fiction and autofiction of the themes of passage ritual and liminality and the thematic continuity which links this work with its literary ancestors of the 1960s and 1970s Through the close analysis of novels and texts by Pierre Bergounioux François Bon Marie Darrieussecq Hélène Lenoir Laurent Mauvignier and Jean Rouaud Duffy demonstrates the ways in which contemporary narrative while capitalising on the formal lessons of the nouveau roman and drawing upon a shared repertoire of motifs and themes engages with the complex processes by which meaning is produced in the referential world and in particular with the rituals and codes that social man brings into play in order to negotiate the various stages of the human life cycle By the application of concepts and models derived from ritual theory and from visual analysis Thresholds of Meaning situates itself at the intersection of the developing field of literature and anthropology studies and research into word and image

Nathalie Sarraute John Phillips, 1994 Breaking new ground in Sarraute studies John Phillips reads the novels and plays of Nathalie Sarraute in a hitherto largely neglected critical perspective Through a detailed analysis of textual metaphors he demonstrates that Sarraute's writing is informed and inspired by an intensely personal set of desires Unlike previous criticism which has stressed the formal aspects of the writing to the exclusion of the psychological this study exploits contemporary psychoanalytic and feminist theory to expose an unconscious feminine dimension which the author herself has never recognized

Disent les imbéciles Nathalie Sarraute, 1976 Des imbéciles Imbéciles Les imbéciles C'est ne pas croire C'est lui qui vient de dire à Lui-même C'est de sa propre bouche que sont sortis ces mots tonnants des imbéciles Ces gens-là regardez je vous les désigne regardez les bien Vous voyez ce sont des imbéciles Les voici Ils se nomment ainsi Ils sont là devant nous immobilisés Ils sont tout raides comme inanimés Ils sont emmaillottés soigneusement entourés de bandelettes sur leur from the history of a movement that began in the 1950s and persisted through the 1970s providing a fair and dispassionate account of its chief representatives While Babcock does look at these writers as participants in a movement he does not force a false unity on the group Through an examination of their exemplary novels Babcock gives a balanced view of their common concerns as well as their differences As the nouveau roman reaches its fiftieth year The New Novel in France offers the first major historical study of a literary form that continues to capture scholarly interest and to excite intense debate      Host
