

Marketing to introverts

Focus on low-interaction content

Create content that requires little to no real-time interaction.

This is content like:

- podcasts
- blogs
- emails, and
- short videos.

Don't rush them

Limited-time offers and think-fast marketing techniques won't work on this audience.

They hate being put on the spot or having to make a rushed decision.

Be authentic

One of the best ways marketers can reach introverts is by using an authentic approach in their marketing strategy.

The hype and buzz are not something they care for!

Thoughtful social media

Social media is incredibly draining for this crowd. If you want to make use of social media, create quality over quantity content.

Create a meaningful experience, and don't use any pushy marketing techniques.

Low-key events

When you host a marketing event, you usually have to think big. When hosting an event for an introverted audience, think small.

Webinars and intimate gatherings will work the best.
