Kleespies,2000-01-27 Focusing on acute clinical situations in which there is an imminent risk of serious harm or death to self or others this practical resource helps clinicians evaluate and manage a wide range of mental health emergencies Authors examine how to distinguish crises that are emergencies from those that are not and provide basic instruction in crisis theory and emergency interviewing The volume then provides guidelines for intervening with suicidal patients potentially violent patients and vulnerable victims of violence as well as patients facing life and death medical decisions with careful attention to risk management and forensic issues Also addressed are emergency related conditions including self mutilation alcohol and drug related crises adverse reactions to psychotropic medication and psychological symptoms of medical conditions Finally chapters consider the effects of emergency intervention on clinicians and offer suggestions for managing stress      Phenomenology and Treatment of Psychiatric Emergencies B.S. Comstock,W.E. Fann,A.D. Pokorny,Robert L. Williams,2012-12-06 psychiatric treatment approaches there are opportunities for trial and error exploration and reconsideration revision of treatment approach and correction of errors Revisions and corrections are based on observations of progress and on response from patients about the impact of treatment efforts But emergency interventions usually are one time efforts involving a sequence of evaluation therapeutic intervention and referral out Response is limited or absent and there are no opportunities for corrections over time Therefore interventions and referrals must be made on the basis of first evaluations with positive conviction related to current best effort and despite the lack of guidance derived from tracking the patient's progress over time The staff must tolerate the risk taking required and must also be prepared to forego the gratification of seeing the beneficial results of the work done Even in programs structured to allow return visits and despite the occasional information provided by other agencies after referrals the majority of patients are lost to follow up The usefulness of specific interventions is hard to evaluate and the satisfaction of seeing a task completed is rarely available The emergency program staff must tolerate a considerable amount of stress in the environment Emergency care centers are collection points for an extraordinary volume of human suffering The anxieties and strains associated with persistent urgency of need alarm related to unexpected difficulties fearfulness about outcome closeness of death and presence of pain pervade the atmosphere      Crisis Intervention Handbook Albert R.
