The Trauma of Sexual and Domestic Violence Sharon Ellis Davis, 2022-07-26 Recovering from the trauma of sexual and domestic violence is a process that can lead you to find your own strength Shaped by a faith identity incongruent with her reality as a survivor of sexual and physical abuse Ellis Davis became intimately familiar with domestic violence and the church's reluctance to intervene Then using marriages as a touchstone for self discovery only led her into increasingly violent relationships Even while navigating the process to wholeness as a woman police officer Ellis Davis was not assured an expedient process through the courts nor protection from male police officers Determined to define her worth for herself Ellis Davis shares with liberating vulnerability decades of blessings and betrayals as she self actualized from being a victim of domestic violence and sexual traumas to becoming victoriously accomplished and deeply content This book provides hope for survivors pastoral wisdom for seminarians cultural sensitivity for service providers and is useful as a guide for faith based study groups

A Crisis in Caring Scottish Council for Spastics, 1981

The Caring Class Richard Schweid, 2021 The book is an absorbing look into our home health care system To write the book Richard Schweid rented an apartment in the Bronx sat in on training courses provided by Cooperative Health Care Associates for home health aides and lived among those he was interviewing With one compelling story after another Schweid introduces us to the people who take these jobs and gives us a visceral sense of what home health care entails the agencies that provide it the policies that regulate it and the clients who receive it Helping Those Who Hurt Barbara Roberts, 2009 Discover how a life crisis can give you wisdom and direction and learn how to offer support to the hurting person Coercion in Psychiatry: Epidemiology, Effects and Prevention Cornelis Lambert Mulder, Bridget Hamilton, Jorun Rugkåsa, 2022-09-29 Demonstrating Care Martha Libster, 2001 Looks at ways nurses historically have demonstrated care since the writings of Florence Nightingale and how caring modalities now referred to as complementary therapies have been used Examines connections between five aspects of demonstrating care and five categories of nursing fundamentals and their relationship with complementary therapies Science and art of each modality is addressed For nurses who wish to integrate complementary therapies into their biomedical practice Author information is not given Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Caring in Times of Family Crisis Bill Blackburn, Deana Mattingly Blackburn, 1987 Caring in Crisis Gillian Dalley, 2022-05-29 This book examines a familiar and contemporary social policy issue the crisis besetting social care but differs from usual accounts by including additional perspectives philosophical ethical and political not often raised but nonetheless crucial to understanding the issue Its central argument is that while a health care divide dates back to legislative separation at the inception of the welfare state in the 1940s the major cause of the current crisis has been the slow but insidious ideological and practical splitting off and fracturing of social care from other state welfare institutions notably the NHS and its consequent entrapment in the treacherous straits of profit and loss self interest and individualism These issues and others the book argues contribute to the building of a strong case for bringing social care into the public sector Towards the end the book goes on to consider the impact from 2020 of the Covid 19 pandemic on a caring crisis that was already well established The consequences of this global shock are still working through and are likely to be profound Solutions as the book describes which were already being formulated prior to the arrival of the pandemic are even more salient now The book will therefore be of interest to students and researchers of social policy and public policy health and social care professionals and policymakers and users of social care themselves
