Crisis In Western Security:

The Crisis in Western Security Lawrence S. Hagen, 2021-01-26 This book first published in 1982 examines the crisis of détente in Europe and between the superpowers the crisis in arms control and the heightening of tensions within NATO and analyses the central precepts of Western policy and thought in these areas These crises are examined in terms of the trends thought and action in the area of Western security In particular the concept of strategic stability the assumptions behind arms control and between arms control and security policy are critically analysed Allies in Crisis Elizabeth Sherwood-Randall, 1990 This book offers a cohesive picture of one of the consistent problems confronting NATO the will and the capability of alliance members to act beyond the European theater Sherwood's approach is chronological focusing on a number of international crises since 1948 that she feels are representative of the out of area problem She raises a number of points regarding the triangular relationship among the United States the European allies and the external countries involved many of which were former colonies She implies that the European allies often hesitated to get involved in such crises for fear of subjecting their own policies to intense scrutiny and that the United States often chose to pursue policies that minimized its own involvement with the former colonies of its allies Sherwood concludes that the European allies would claim that participating in such a conflict would have to come at the expense of the defense commitments at home ISBN 0 300 04170 5 25 00 Raw Materials, Energy and Western Security Hanns W. Maull, 1984-12-05 The Internal Fabric of Western Security Gregory Flynn, 2025-03-03 Changes in domestic economic and political conditions together with a loss of confidence in the United States leadership produced serious problems within the Atlantic Alliance The Internal Fabric of Western Security first published in 1981 examines the effects of domestic change upon perceived security requirements and explores ways to deal with the problems that developed Beginning with an examination of Allied and European relations the book outlines external challenges to security that the Alliance faces in the 1980s and discusses internal problems that affect member nations ability to deal with them Country studies of the four largest European members of the Alliance systematically examine domestic constraints on security policy and assess probable approaches for the 1980s A more general analysis is offered on how this situation affects the Allies ability to work together in dealing with their common security problems The need to integrate economic and military requirements is also discussed Conventional Arms Control and East-West Security Institute for East-West Security Studies, 1989 This important and timely work prepared by the leading researchers planners and policymakers from both Eastern and Western alliances analyzes the major issues in the Vienna talks on conventional forces in Europe involving NATO and Warsaw Pact nations It is likely to have a significant influence on the course of these negotiations and on emerging debate on conventional arms control The contributors met in Moscow prior to the Vienna conference to review and compare their analyses and revised them thereafter for publication in this work New Technology and Western Security Policy, 1985 Af indholdet New Technology and Intra Alliance Relationships New
