China and India Waheguru Pal Singh Sidhu, Jing Dong Yuan, 2003 The hardline view of Sino Indian relations found in the published reports of Indian and Chinese security analysts is often at considerable odds with the more tempered opinions those same analysts express in private interviews and conversations What is the reality of the increasingly important security relationship between the two countries The authors of this new study address that question in depth Sidhu and Yuan explore a range of key issues including mutual distrust and misperception perhaps the most important factor the undemarcated border the status of Tibet and Sikkim trade the tussle over various nonproliferation treaties terrorism the regional roles of the U S and Pakistan and the impact of domestic public opinion and special interests They do see a trend toward a more pragmatic approach in Beijing and New Delhi to managing differences and broadening the agenda of common interests Nevertheless they conclude significant obstacles remain to the amicable relationship necessary for regional peace and stability posing a daunting challenge to policymakers in these two rising powers

Conflict and Peacemaking in South Asia, 2001 Includes papers originally presented at a conference held in March 1999 at Jawaharlal Nehru University New Delhi

Rationality and Emotion Lin Ren, 2014-07-21 Reconciliation is an important agenda for postwar countries It plays a major role in harmonizing bilateral and regional relations Lin Ren compares reconciliations between the Sino Japanese and the Franco German dyads Each dyad shares a deep rooted historic antagonism Nevertheless France and Germany reached a far deeper degree of reconciliation Therefore this book devotes to explore the trouble creators that led to the diverse outcomes so as to challenge taking rationality as the single micro foundation of decision making concerning reconciliation

Asian Security to the Year 2000 William Jesse Taylor, 1996 In January 1996 the U S Army War College s Strategic Studies Institute SSI and the Center for Strategic and International Studies CSIS hosted a conference on Asian Security to the Year 2000 No region of the world has greater potential for expanded influence on American interests This compendium of papers from the conference examines the security policies being pursued by many of the key Asian actors China the Koreas Pakistan and the nations of Southeast Asia particularly those in ASEAN The contributors to this volume paint the picture of a dynamic and diverse Asia on the verge of the new century Each author identifies the critical issues which frame both challenges and opportunities for U S foreign economic and security pol

Confidence Building Measures and Security Cooperation in South Asia Humayun Kabir, 2002 Contributed papers earlier presented at an international conference South Asia, Dynamics of Politics, Economy, & Security Kulwant Kaur, Baljit S. Mann, 2006 South Asia has witnessed cataclysmic changes in internal and external politics which have initiated the process of political economic and social transformation in the region. The region is suffering from the syndrome of insecurity. Threats to security are not only from within but also from outside the region. Arms Race and Nuclear Developments in South Asia Pervaiz Iqbal Cheema, Imtiaz H. Bokhari, 2004. The Routledge Handbook of Maritime India Adhuri Subramanyam Raju, R. Srinivasan, 2025-06-27. This handbook provides a comprehensive study of India's maritime heritage. It presents perspectives on India's maritime history, territorial concerns, bilateral and multilateral engagements, traditional and non-traditional threats, maritime management and development, as well as climate change and its implications. The volume brings together accomplished academicians and practitioners who through multidisciplinary and analytical methodologies examine the concerns and challenges India faces at present or might face in the immediate future, focusing on crucial actors, policies and new developments. In doing so, the handbook provides an invaluable and pragmatic understanding of and solutions to India's maritime needs. This volume is an indispensable resource for scholars, teachers and researchers of political science, international relations, South Asian studies, South Asian politics, history, defence and strategic studies, foreign policy, maritime strategy and security. The Dynamics of South Asia Eric Gonsalves, Nancy Jetly, 1999-08-30. This volume offers a good overview of the various difficulties affecting regional cooperation in South Asia. International Quarterly for Asian Studies. This book provides a multi-dimensional and analytical overview of the work and future of the South Asian Association for Regional Cooperation (SAARC). The contributors relate the significant progress made through bilateral dialogues, inter-state relations and regional meetings of the SAARC against the backdrop of a new international system which has little concern for South Asia. They stress the importance of strengthening linkages by concentrating on the economic and cultural concerns of the region rather than on political and security issues.

Confidence Building in the Arms Control Process James MacIntosh, Canada. Non-Proliferation, Arms Control and Disarmament Division, 1996. Confidence building as an approach to international security management has traditionally focused on developing agreements featuring well-known confidence building measures as opposed to the activity of confidence building itself. This report begins with a critical review of traditional confidence building ideas which highlights some problems that continue to undermine conventional treatments of confidence building. It then discusses in some detail the essential elements that comprise the transformation view of confidence building. That view shifts attention away from operational measures towards the processes associated with their development and application. According to that view, confidence building is a distinct activity undertaken by policy makers with the minimum intention of improving some aspects of a traditionally antagonistic security relationship through security policy coordination and cooperation. It requires interaction among officials and experts from participating states when conditions are supportive of change. SAPANA: Conflict resolution in South Asia Imtiaz Alam, 2006. Internal and External Dynamics of South Asian Security Moonis Ahmar, 1998. Papers read at a workshop on Internal and External Dynamics of South Asian Security held on December 8, 1996.
