Managing Trauma in the Workplace Noreen Tehrani, 2010-10-06 Managing Trauma in the Workplace looks at the impact of trauma not only from the perspective of the employees but also from that of their organisations In addition to describing the negative outcomes from traumatic exposure it offers solutions which will not only build a more resilient workforce but also lead to individual and organisational growth and development This book has contributions from international experts working in a variety of professions including teaching the military social work and human resources It is split into four parts which explore the nature of organisational trauma traumatized organisation and business continuity organisational interventions building resilience and growth Managing Trauma in the Workplace is essential reading for anyone with responsibility to help and support workers involved in distressing and traumatic incidents as a victim supporter or investigator Loss, Grief, and Trauma in the Workplace Neil Thompson, 2009 The workplace is not immune to the problems pressures and challenges presented by experiences of loss and trauma and the grief reactions they produce This clearly written well crafted book offers important insights and understanding to help us appreciate the difficulties involved and prepare ourselves for dealing with such demanding situations when they arise People's experiences of loss and trauma are of course not left at the factory gate or the office door Nor are loss and traumatic events absent from the workplace itself Loss grief and trauma are very much a part of life and that includes working life Executives managers human resource professionals and employee assistance staff need to have at least a basic understanding of how loss grief and trauma affect people in the workplace This book provides that foundation of understanding and offers guidance on how to find out more about these vitally important workplace issues The text provides a valuable blend of theory and practice that will be of interest to those involved in management human resources and organizational studies as well as those interested in the social scientific study of loss grief and trauma and of course to those involved in the helping professions It is essential reading for anyone concerned with making the workplace a more humane and effective environment or anyone wishing to develop an understanding of the complexities of loss grief and trauma in our lives Disaster and Traumatic Stress Research and Intervention, 2000

Workplace Violence Prevention Programs Health Care Health & Safety Association of Ontario, 2003 Work Related Abstracts, 1995 The Employee Assistance Program Management Yearbook Jennifer L. DeFalco, 2001 Workplace Violence in Healthcare Toolkit Judy L. Jacobs, Wayne D. Porter, 1999 Describes types and causes of workplace violence Explains how to identify potential assailants and how to manage threats and critical situations Describes how to establish a prevention programme and provides details of a training programme for employees and supervisors Managing Trauma in the Workplace Steve Cowley, 1989 This paper discusses the use of critical incident stress debriefing as part of an overall strategic approach to the management of trauma within the workplace The importance of Post Traumatic Stress Disorder is recognised and its implications discussed The key elements necessary for a programme dealing with workplace trauma are identified and the role of training is considered as a major component The recommendations are made within the context of one organisation's approach to this issue Problems are discussed as they apply to the case study Issues that will effect the success of a trauma management programme are put forward however the restrictions of this topic prevent a detailed discussion of each point Consequently a number of questions are raised indicating the need for further research Abstract

Preventing Violence in the Workplace, 1994 The Employee Assistance Handbook James M. Oher, 1999-06-25

This book edited by a member of the EHS class of 1966 presents a review of the best practices in Employee Assistance Programs Stress in Teachers Jack Dunham, Ved Prakash Varma, 1998-08-10 Examines the stress in teaching multidisciplinary concept broad enough to include physiological psychological organisational and legal perspectives The editors see stress in teaching as an interactionist concept a complex and sometimes precarious balance between perceived work pressures coping strategies and stress reactions The early chapters in the book reflect this view and make contributions to understanding the causes and costs of stress in teaching The authors of these chapters come collectively to the conclusion that there is an alarmingly low level of job satisfaction in teaching and that turnover intentions appear to be on the increase This pessimistic view is challenged in later chapters by professionals working in the field of stress management These contributions highlight the danger of focusing stress research and management These contributions highlight the danger of focusing stress research and management strategies on the individual rather than the organization and report the authors hands on knowledge of teacher support teams and workshop and whole school approaches to diminishing the causes and costs of teacher stress and improving training and career development The concluding chapters demonstrate the editors belief that useful insights for workers in the education service can be gained from studies of workplace stress in other occupations Understanding Mass Violence Shulamith Lala Ashenberg Straussner, Norma Kolko Phillips, 2004

Understanding Mass Violence prepares social workers to intervene with people affected by human caused violence such as school shootings or terrorist acts The difficult challenges facing social work practitioners are discussed and suggestions for self care are provided Mass violence is also examined within the broader context of social policy and social justice The book is organized into 5 sections and includes 13 chapters providing the content for a course on social work and mass violence or trauma Multisystem Skills and Interventions in School Social Work Practice Edith M. Freeman, 1998 This book covers new multisystem interventions that work on all levels from school to family to community agencies to the policy level Five sections and 45 chapters explore strategies for areas of current challenge including Curbing aggressive behaviour in childhood Improving attendance in at risk children in elementary school Empowering families through co operative pre school education Working with teenagers with ADHD Preventing youth suicide Participating in a traumatic event debriefing Preventing substance abuse in middle school and many more In addition Multisystem Skills and Interventions gives examples of larger system and policy interventions in chapters that include HIV AIDS policy development and reform Medicaid managed care and urban poor people and more Written by and for frontline practitioners Multisystem Skills and Interventions is ideal for courses in school social work juvenile justice family children and youths child welfare and children s mental health specialisation s Violence in the Workplace, 1999
