Critical Issues In Training Special Education Teachers:

Critical Issues in Training Special Education Teachers Laurie U. deBettencourt, 2014-01-21 First Published in 2005 This is Volume 12 in the Exceptionality series with the focus of Critical Issues in Training Special Education Teachers This title features guest editor Laurie U deBettencourt The articles in this issue of Exceptionality discuss several issues relevant to special education teacher training the meaning of highly qualified teachers especially in the area of special education the comparison of traditionally and alternatively trained special education teachers and the reflections of alternatively trained first year special educators In addition this issue provides a reflection of the past 20 years of preparing special education teachers as alternatives to traditional teacher preparation develop

Critical Issues in Training Special Education Teachers Laurie U. deBettencourt, 2005-01 This study follows the aesthetic of the sublime from Burke and Kant through Wordsworth and the Shelleys into Thackeray Dickens Eliot and Hardy Exploring the continuities between the romantic and Victorian periods that have so often been rather read as differences the book demonstrate that the sublime mode enables the transition from a paradigm of overwhelming power exemplified by the body of the king to the pervasive power of surveillance utilized by the rising middle classes While the domestic woman connected with the rise of the middle class is normally seen as beautiful the book contends that the moral authority given to this icon of depth and interiority is actually sublime The binary of the beautiful and the sublime seeks to contain the sublimity of womanhood by insisting on sublimity s masculine character This is the book s most important claim rather than exemplifying masculine strength the sublime marks the transition to a system of power gendered as feminine and yet masks that transition because it fears the power it ostensibly accords to the feminine This aesthetic is both an inheritance the Victorians receive from their romantic predecessors and more importantly a broad historical phenomenon that questions the artificial boundaries between romantic and Victorian

Critical Issues in Special Education Audrey McCray Sorrells, Herbert J. Rieth, Paul T. Sindelar, 2004 This book represents the contributions of prominent researchers teacher educators policy makers teachers and parents on current and emerging issues facing the field of special education and their critical thinking on how to ensure that students with disabilities receive free appropriate education in the least restrictive environment The authors present divergent perspectives on the issues and concerns including a the emergence of more constructivistic instruction approaches that focus increasingly on higher order thinking b new organization structures for administering schools c standards based reform and the use of high stakes testing for evaluating students d the changing population and the increasingly diverse demographics of the students served in the public schools e the onset of the information age and the increasingly visible role of technology in the schools and the workplace f concerns about student discipline and violence in schools g the continuing shortage of qualified and certified special education teachers and h trends in higher education focused on the reform of teacher education such as changing standards for knowledge and skills preparing teachers for changing roles as mentors and
