Critical Systems Praxis For Social And Environmental Justice:

From Polarisation to Multispecies Relationships Janet J. McIntyre-Mills, Yvonne Corcoran-Nantes, 2021-08-05 This book explores the concept of multi species relationships and suggests critical systemic pathways to protect shared habitats This book discusses how the eradication of species as a result of rapid urbanisation places humanity at risk This book demonstrates how narrow anthropocentrism has focused on the rights of human beings at the expense of other species and the environment This book explores a priori norms and a posteriori measures and indicators to include and protect multiple species This book aims to strengthen institutional capacity and powers to address and extend the UN 2030 Sustainable Development Agenda by drawing on local wisdom but also the need to implement laws to prevent ecocide This book highlights that our fragile interdependence requires a recognition of our hybridity and interconnectedness within the web of life and suggests ways to reframe policy within and beyond the nation state to support living systems of which we are a strand

Systems Science for Complex Policy Making Kuntoro Mangkusubroto, Utomo Sarjono Putro, Santi Novani, Kyoichi Kijima, 2016-05-27 This volume applies a systems science perspective to complex policy making dynamics using the case of Indonesia to illustrate the concepts Indonesia is an archipelago with a high heterogeneity Her people consist of 1 340 tribes who are scattered over 17 508 islands Every region has different natural strengths and conditions In the national development process all regions depend on one another other while optimizing their own conditions In addition to this diversity Indonesia also employs a democratic system of government with high regional autonomy A democratic government puts a high value on individual freedom but on the other hand conflicts of interest also occur frequently High regional autonomy also often causes problems in coordination among agencies and regional governments This uniqueness creates a kind of complexity that is rarely found in other countries These daily complexities requires intensive interaction negotiation processes and coordination Such necessities should be considered in public policy making and in managing the implementation of national development programs In this context common theories and best practices generated on the basis of more simplified assumptions often fail Systems science offer a way of thinking that can take into account and potentially overcome these complexities However efforts to apply systems science massively and continuously in real policy making by involving many stakeholders are still rarely carried out The first part of the book discusses the gap between the existing public policy making approach and needs in the real world After that the characteristics of the appropriate policy making process in a complex environment and how this process can be carried are described In later sections important systems science concepts that can be applied in managing these complexities are discussed Finally the efforts to apply these concepts in real cases in Indonesia are described

Mixed Methods and Cross Disciplinary Research Janet McIntyre-Mills, Norma R. A. Romm, 2019-07-12 This book uses mixed methods to extend the concept of wellbeing stocks to refer to dynamic ways of working with others It addresses metaphors and praxis for weaving together strands of experience The aim of the wellbeing

stocks concept is to enable people to re evaluate economics and to become more aware of the way in which we neglect social and environmental aspects of life The pursuit of profit at the expense of people and the environment is a central problem for democracy and governance The vulnerability of cities is a symptom of the lack of balance between individual and collective needs This book explores the potential for cities specifically in the regions of Indonesia Africa and Australia to become more productive as sites for food and water security through more creative use of technology It highlights the need for partners that see food and security feasible at the household level if supports are provided at the community national and international level The book examines how these regions are affected by demographics climate change and people movements but also explores ways to establish an effective cultural ecosystem management

Transformative Education for Regeneration and Wellbeing Janet J. McIntyre-Mills, Yvonne Corcoran-Nantes, 2022-09-29 The edited volume advocates for teaching systemic ethics as a form of life long learning within nature s classroom to support social and environmental justice This book also explains critical systemic thinking as both an individual and a collective responsibility through many ways of knowing spanning the arts and sciences to inspire creativity This volume contributes to theory and practice by making suggestions as to how to re frame the content structure and process of education for transformation This volume makes a case for a more relational understanding of human beings and other species This volume also explores a more integrated curriculum where learners are given the opportunity to explore many ways of knowing and learning to learn and grow a future through circular economies co operatives and learning communities This book highlights how the models of sustainable development focus on education for wellbeing in line with the UNESCO approach outlined in 2021 that emphasizes the systemic nature of education rooted in protecting the environment and supported by the participation of active global citizens This volume demonstrates transformation of our thinking and practice is overdue and calls for changing the narrative through our standing together and redesigning systems of education to prioritize a more holistic worldview that embraces the planet and living systems The focus of this volume is on values perspectives and ways to make a difference through addressing a range of practical concerns such as food energy and water security Ontologically the editors perspective is shaped by recognising kinship with nature as expressed by Indigenous custodians Epistemologically the editors and contributors to this volume explore ways to enhance education based on working across cultures and disciplines using a cross cultural approach and mixed methodology Axiologically the editors support the notion of transformative research that promotes balancing non anthropocentrism with an approach that draws on Indigenous wisdom whilst addressing patriarchal notions through gender mainstreaming

Systemic Governance and Accountability Janet McIntyre-Mills, 2008-01-16 The book makes a plea for systemic governance It follows a practical approach including case studies and conceptual tools Policy makers and managers need to work with rather than within theoretical and methodological frameworks The closest we can get to truth is through compassionate dialogue that explores paradoxes and
