Critical Thinking Skills Language Arts:

Take Five! for Language Arts Kaye Hagler, 2012 Kaye Hagler's unique bell ringers for language arts help you transform the first chaotic five minutes of class into authentic opportunities to practice critical thinking skills while also addressing the Common Core State Standards and providing support in the school's curriculum. Students in grades 3-9 exercise their mental muscles as they work collaboratively warming them up to tackle your standards-based lessons. Whether your students are inventing secret codes, concocting potions, rewriting history, making conjunction paper chains, or thinking like newspaper editors, these diverse and creative prompts will have them looking forward to the part of the day when they're asked to Take Five for critical thinking. The 180 plus prompts set up your teaching day from the minute that students step into your class. Each ready-to-use prompt includes corresponding standards, supply lists, language arts links, teacher tips, assessment options, rubrics, and digital connections that add more than 100 extension lessons. Begin every day of the school year with a burst of critical thinking and fun with this comprehensive resource. Ready Set Take Five Language Smarts Level B (B/W) Judy Wilson Goddard, 2008-05-06

Critical Thinking in Secondary Language Arts Augustine Enabulele, 2011 The purpose of this research was to examine the effectiveness of the dialectical journal as a tool for teaching critical thinking skills and to assess middle school teachers perception of critical thinking Two groups of middle school students were split into one control and one experimental group Both groups took a critical thinking test before the experimental group alone was instructed on how to use the dialectical journal Both groups took another critical thinking test after this instruction For the second part of the research middle school teachers responded to survey questions and statement They responded with written statements and checked boxes to indicate their perceptions of critical thinking Results demonstrate that after two weeks of instruction the experimental group performed poorer than it did in the pretest group Similarly the control group performed poorer than it did in the pretest with the difference being that the control group never received any instruction on how to use the dialectical journal Results also showed that majority of the teachers surveyed have perceptions of critical thinking that are favorable and accurate by virtue of their consistency with research Results show that the dialectical journal is ineffective as a tool for teaching critical thinking but a few threats to validity make this result inconclusive and therefore a pilot research Additionally since teachers have favorable perception of critical thinking they are willing to learn more about it and to teach it More research should be done regarding the use of dialectical journal and the research should take timing and the duration of the research into consideration To help their students think critically using tools such as the dialectical journal teachers should consider doing so flexibly and incrementally The following are appended 1 Critical Thinking What Do You Think 2 Dialectical Journal 3 Table C1 4 Table D1 and 5 Notice of Approval Contains 6 tables
