Criticism and Medieval Poetry A. C. Spearing, 1972 Medieval English Poetry Stephanie Trigg, 1993 The essays in this volume consider a range of poetic texts written in England between the twelfth and fifteenth centuries with the exception of works by Chaucer and represent some of the exciting new developments in medieval studies over the last twenty years The collection explores and interrogates the established canon of Middle English poetry and includes several studies of two major poems Sir Gawain and the Green Knight and Piers Plowman and essays on some less well known works including Havelok the Dane The Owl and the Nightingale and The Flower and the Leaf In a field that has been dominated by historical scholarship and conservative new criticism Medieval English Poetry brings together some of the most controversial work currently being done in Middle English studies this collection reveals the strength and depth of this research in feminist Marxist historicist reader response and deconstructionist method It includes contributions from David Aers Sheila Delany Anne Middleton and Lee Patterson Stephanie Trigg's illuminating introduction examines some of the patterns that have emerged in the criticism of medieval literature this century and pays particular attention to our constructions and definitions of the medieval The range of material covered together with the detailed headnotes to each of the thirteen essays and the guide to further reading make this book essential reading for all undergraduate and postgraduate students of Medieval English Literature Toward a Medieval Poetics Paul Zumthor, 1992 A translation of the 1972 French analysis of the dynamics of textual production in the Middle Ages that marked a major shift in scholarly discourse about medieval literature Integrating the tools of linguistics and textual criticism does not come to conclusions but proposes approaches and methods for investigation Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Criticism and Medieval Poetry A. Essays in the Numerical Criticism of Medieval Literature Caroline D. Eckhardt, 1979 The essays in this collection are attempts to understand medieval aesthetic principles and products not to champion the numerical approach All the essays share a confidence that when Chaucer for example wrote alle thynges been ordeyned and nombred he was enunciating a philosophical and aesthetic principle of fundamental importance to medieval thought Classical and medieval criticism George Saintsbury, 1902 A History of Criticism and Literary Taste in Europe from the Earliest Texts to the Present Day George Saintsbury, 1904 The Ethical Poetic of the Later Middle Ages Judson Boyce Allen, 1982-12-15 This study of the definition of literature in the late medieval period is based on manuals of writing and on literary commentary and glosses It defines a method of reading which may now profitably explain medieval texts and identifies new primary medieval evidence which may ground and guide new reading Allen chooses texts whose commentary tradition provides the greatest opportunity for completeness The most important of these is Ovid's Metamorphoses Medieval readings of Ovid bring into focus a number of major literary questions the problems of fable and fiction of unity imposed by miscellany poetry of allegorical commentary and of Christian use of pagan culture all in connection with text which furnished medieval authors with more stories than any other single source except possibly the Bible Allen also studies commentaries on the Consolation of Philosophy of Boethius the Thebaid of Statius the De nuptiis of Martianus Capella the medieval Christian hymn book and the Poetria nova of Geoffrey of Vinsauf Together these texts represent the range of medieval literature a literature which Allen concludes was taken as direct ethical discourse logically conducted and artfully organized within a system of language that also assimilated the natural world and sought to absorb its audience
