Cross-Cultural Approaches to the Study of Alcohol Michael W. Everett, Jack O. Waddell, Dwight B. Heath, 2011-06-03
No detailed description available for Cross Cultural Approaches to the Study of Alcohol Cross-cultural Approaches to the Study of Alcohol University of Chicago Conference on Alcohol Studies and Anthropology, 1976 Cross-cultural Approaches to the Study of Alcohol William C. (Charles) McCormack, 1976 CROSS-CULTURAL APPROACHES TO THE STUDY OF ALCOHOL M.W. Everett, Smithsonian Institution. Center for the Study of Man, 1976 Recent Developments in Alcoholism Marc Galanter, 2013-11-11 From the President of the Research Society on Alcoholism The field of alcohol research has been slowly but continuously evolving taking into its domain an ever increasing array of scientific disciplines This series is designed to fill the need for a review publication that covers the broad range of research into alcohol actions and alcoholism Research in alcohol concerns social epidemiological and legal concerns in addition to biomedical and behavioral topics to greater degree than research with many other drugs A publication devoted to alcohol research should serve the broadest existing research community but perhaps more important it should also provide a means to recruit new investigators with fresh approaches to the field We can and must demonstrate that legitimate high quality research is being done but we must also highlight the opportunity for new workers to make a real impact on the problem The Research Society on Alcoholism seeks to provide such a service not only through this publication but also through other activities Richard A Deitrich Ph D Social Aspects of Alcoholism Benjamin Kissin, Henri Begleiter, 2013-06-29 The first three volumes of this series have dealt with materials which generally justify the title The Biology of Alcoholism This is only remotely true of the present volume Social Aspects of Alcoholism or of the final volume to come Treatment and Rehabilitation Except for small portions of the treatment section which involve pharmacotherapy much of these last two volumes deals with the psychological aspects of alcoholism and still more with the social It is interesting to review the evolution of this new pattern over the past seven years a pattern which had it existed initially would have resulted if not in a different format at least in a different title Our initial selection of areas to be covered was influenced by our desire to present as hard data as possible in an attempt to lend a greater aura of scientific rigor to a field which was generally considered as soft When we completed our review of this material in volumes 1 3 we recognized that what we might have gained in rigor we had more than lost in completeness These volumes presented a picture of a biological disease syndrome for which the remedies and preventive measures were presumably also biological And yet most workers in the field readily accept the significant contributions of psychological and social factors to the pathogenesis and treatment of alcoholism Journal of Studies on Alcohol , 1981 Alcohol Health and Research World , 1993 Handbook of Cross-cultural Human Development Ruth H. Munroe, Robert L. Library,1963 The International Journal of the Addictions ,1994 Alcoholism and Clinical Psychiatry Joel Solomon,1982-02-28 It is well known that alcoholism continues to be one of this country s major public health problems This issue is carefully documented by Dr Gerald Klerman Chief of ADAMHA in the second chapter of this volume In spite of the major role that alcohol plays in the health care issues of internal medicine neurology and psychiatry the subject continues to fall between the cracks of the various disciplines For this reason it has become almost a discipline of its own yet there are no academic departments of alcoholism because academic departments are unidisciplinary and alcoholism is clearly a multidisciplinary field within medicine In spite of the many disciplines involved in the study and treatment of alcoholism psychiatry continues to have a special albeit often neglected relationship to alcoholism and it is the articulation of that relationship which prompted the Department of Psychiatry at the Downstate Medical Center to organize the conference upon which many chapters in this volume are based Particular emphasis in selecting the topics to be covered was placed on the interface between alcoholism and clinical psychiatry including affective disorders schizophrenia suicide adolescence the special problems of women and psychotherapy to mention only some of them The Management of Blue Collar Alcoholism John Francis Sherry,1985 Maternal Alcoholism and Family Life Genevieve Marie Westhues Ames,1982 Tulapai to Tokay Patricia D.
