The Age of Dinosaurs Mark McKenzie,2021-07-11 Did you know that a new species of dinosaur is found on average once a week according to the National Geographic Or the fact that a large number of dinosaurs possessed feathers What if I told you that there are even modern day dinosaurs roaming the streets right now What could be more enjoyable for a dinosaur lover than being able to color all of his or her favorite kinds of dinosaurs Animals ranging from fearsome meat eaters to gentle herbivores wander the pages of this beautiful detailed and informative coloring book taking pleasure in their ancient surroundings as they are framed by forests mountains volcanoes and comets streaking across the sky The most common dinosaur kinds may be found here sometimes alone and at other times interacting with one another Have fun exploring Purchase this dinosaur coloring book now and share the joy and excitement of dinosaurs with that special science minded child in your life This coloring book is a wonderful non screen activity for stimulating a young child s creativity and imagination while keeping them occupied In addition there are several pages of scientific facts and figures to keep older children interested in the subject matter including numerous color illustrations if you wish to purchase that version that also translate nicely in plain black text as well It s the ideal present for every occasion The introduction to this is quite detailed and filled to the brim with detailed scientific information about the beginning of the Universe as well as the formation of stars our galaxy our star system our Earth Moon System the beginning and evolution of life on Earth formation of supercontinents early life the rise of the dinosaurs and the end of their reign at the end of the Cretaceous Period because of two major events that happened around the same time before the Paleogene Period It is highly recommended that for the younger children parents should read the introduction to their child and explain it to them Approximately 250 million years ago the Age of the Dinosaurs began They started off as very tiny animals but through time they developed into the diverse and intriguing species that continue to capture our imaginations to this day The knowledge we have about dinosaurs is also developing We ve discovered that some dinosaurs were excellent parents that dinosaurs were capable of growing new teeth when their old ones fell out and that the vast majority of dinosaurs walked on two legs Our research has shown that birds are contemporary cousins of dinosaurs which was previously undiscovered Despite the fact that the dinosaurs walked the planet millions of years ago we are constantly discovering fresh facts about these ancient creatures About this coloring book This full color version has 43 pages to color that are all different from one another Each coloring page is either blank on the obverse side OR there is a description printed in very light text It is important that the pages be single sided to avoid bleed through and to allow pages to be removed and shown without losing an image on the reverse side of the page I mentioned that THIS version is in FULL color hence the higher price point there are a dozen or so bonus illustrations that are in color Each page has been carefully created to be interesting and appropriate for boys and girls between the ages of 9 and 18 years old And is also appropriate for adults as well We have avoided designs that are too complex as well as those that too are overly simple We think that youngsters of this age like coloring interesting pictures that stimulate their imaginations rather than a book consisting of images that look overly cartoonish Images are printed on white pages only light text is on the back to prevent bleed through when coloring using markers or colored pens This book all ages 8 90
