Directory Of Agents Being Tested For Carcinogenicity:

Directory of Agents Being Tested for Carcinogenicity M.J. Ghess,J. Wilbourn,H. Vainio,1990-12-01 Directory of Agents Being Tested for Carcinogenicity A. Meneghel,J. Wilbourn,1996 A worldwide inventory of on going research projects involving the long term carcinogenicity testing in experimental animals of chemicals and other agents In view of the long duration and high costs of carcinogenicity testing the book aims to help avoid unnecessary duplication of research to increase communication among scientists and to provide a guide to research facilities as well as to the specific chemicals and agents being tested The 1996 directory draws together data on 533 chemicals or agents under investigation at 65 institutes in 21 countries Also included in a fully referenced index covering some 200 published studies emanating from projects described in the directory Information on current research projects is arranged alphabetically by country within each country by city and within each city by institute For each institute reporting on long term carcinogenicity testing the chemicals or complex mixtures being tested are listed in alphabetical order Reported data are given in a six column format including name of substance use categories of the substance species strain and number of animals per treated and control group exposure route dose levels and purity starting date and stage of experiment and principal investigators The directory also includes a special section giving cross references to some 270 on going epidemiological studies of 50 substances Use of the directory is further facilitated through the inclusion of indices of institutes investigators chemical abstracts services registry numbers and a cross index of names Some Traditional Herbal Medicines, Some Mycotoxins, Naphthalene and Styrene IARC Working Group on the Evaluation of Carcinogenic Risks to Humans,International Agency for Research on Cancer,2002 This monograph evaluates the carcinogenic risks to humans posed by the use of some traditional herbal medicines fumonisin B1 and the industrial organic chemicals naphthalene and styrene and provides an update of the data on the carcinogenicity of aflat Environmental Health Perspectives ,1993 Tobacco Smoke and Involuntary Smoking IARC Working Group on the Evaluation of Carcinogenic Risks to Humans,World Health Organization,International Agency for Research on Cancer,2004 The IARC Monographs series publishes authoritative independent assessments by international experts of the carcinogenic risks posed to humans by a variety of agents mixtures and exposures They are a resource of information for both researchers and national and international authorities This volume is particularly significant because tobacco smoke not only causes more deaths from cancer than any other known agent it also causes more deaths from vascular and respiratory diseases This volume contains all the relevant information on both direct and passive smoking It is organised by first looking at the nature of agent before collecting the evidence of cancer in humans This is followed by carcinogenicity studies on animals and then any other data relevant to an evaluation IARC Monographs on the Evaluation of Carcinogenic Risks to Humans IARC Working Group on the Evaluation of Carcinogenic Risks to Humans,1988 Betel-quid and Areca-nut Chewing and Some Areca-nut-derived Nitrosamines IARC Working Group on the Evaluation of Carcinogenic

Risks to Humans, International Agency for Research on Cancer, 2004 A working group of sixteen experts from seven countries re evaluated the evidence of the carcinogenicity of betel quid and areca nut chewing and some areca nut related nitrosamines Betel quid and areca nut chewing are widely practised in many parts of Asia and in Asian migrant communities elsewhere in the world There are hundreds of millions of users worldwide They evaluated betel quid with tobacco as carcinogenic to humans Group 1 on the basis of sufficient evidence of an increased risk of cancer of the oral cavity pharynx and oesophagus The working group reviewed epidemiological studies of human cancer mainly studies from India Pakistan and Taiwan China Studies on betel quid with tobacco and areca nut with tobacco in experimental animals now also provide sufficient evidence of carcinogenicity The working group also evaluated betel quid without tobacco as carcinogenic to humans Group 1 on the basis of sufficient evidence of an increased risk of oral cancer Studies on betel quid without tobacco and areca nut without tobacco in experimental animals now also provide sufficient evidence of carcinogenicity Areca nut a common ingredient of betel quid and many different chewing preparations including those available commercially has been observed to cause oral submucous fibrosis National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1991 Smokeless Tobacco and Some Tobacco-specific N-nitrosamines IARC Working Group on the Evaluation of Carcinogenic Risks to Humans, International Agency for Research on Cancer, 2007 This eighty ninth volume of the IARC Monographs is the third and last of a series on tobacco related agents Volume 83 reported on the carcinogenicity of tobacco smoke and involuntary smoking second hand smoke or environmental tobacco smoke IARC 2004a Volume 85 summarized the evidence on the carcinogenic risk of chewing betel quid with and without tobacco IARC 2004b That volume explored the variety of products chewed in South Asia and other parts of the world that contain areca nut in combination with other ingredients often including tobacco In this eighty ninth volume the carcinogenic risks associated with the use of smokeless tobacco including chewing tobacco and snuff are considered in a first monograph The second monograph reviews some tobacco specific nitrosamines These agents were evaluated earlier in Volume 37 of the Monographs IARC 1985 and information gathered since that time has been summarized and evaluated Human Papillomaviruses IARC Working Group on the Evaluation of Carcinogenic Risks to Humans. Meeting, 2007 This ninetieth volume of the IARC Monographs on the Evaluation of Carcinogenic Risks to Humans considers human papillomaviruses HPVs which were evaluated by a previous Working Group IARC 1995 The monograph in the present volume incorporates new data that have become available during the past decade HPVs represent the most common infectious agents that are transmitted sexually throughout the world the major risk factors are behaviors associated with sexual activity Although most infections are asymptomatic and are cleared within a period of 2 years genital HPV infection can lead to clinical disease including anogenital warts cervical neoplasia cervical cancer and other anogenital cancers The risk for persistence of infection and progression of the more than 40 genital HPV types to grade 3 cervical intraepithelial neoplasia CIN3 and cancer differs widely Persistent infection with carcinogenic

HPVs occurs in virtually all cases of cervical cancer Previous evaluations of HPVs have classified types 16 and 18 as carcinogenic to humans group 1 types 31 and 33 as probably carcinogenic to humans Group 2A and some types other than 16 18 31 and 33 as possibly carcinogenic to humans Group 2B At that time the evaluation of types 16 and 18 was based on the strong association between infection with these HPVs and cervical cancer For types 31 and 33 the association was less strong The new epidemiological data reviewed in the present volume strongly support and further confirm the previous evaluation of types 16 and 18 and provide new evidence for other HPVs This information which includes strong evidence of carcinogenicity at sites other than the cervix supports new evaluations for several other HPV types in addition to those mentioned above Since the Working Group was convened in 2005 important innovations in HPV prophylaxis have occurred and these needed to be included in this volume To date two prophylactic vaccines have been developed and used in large multicentric trials This prophylactic vaccination is expected to reduce the incidence of HPV related genital diseases However the benefits of prophylactic vaccines in a broad public health perspective will be achieved only if such vaccines can be provided to those groups of women for whom access to cervical cancer screening services is most problematic Therefore the development of second generation vaccines that are expected to be cheaper easier to deliver and to provide T cell response against pre existing HPV infections is highly desirable

Formaldehyde, 2-Butoxyethanol and 1-tert-Butoxypropan-2-ol IARC Working Group on the Evaluation of Carcinogenic Risks to Humans, International Agency for Research on Cancer, 2006 This volume re evaluates the available evidence on the carcinogenic potential of formaldehyde a substance that is found in the workplace and in the environment Formaldehyde is widely used in resins that bind wood products pulp and paper in glasswool and rockwool insulation in plastics and coatings textile finishing chemical manufacture and as a disinfectant and preservative Also evaluated are two glycol ethers 2 butoxyethanol and 1 tert butoxypropan 2 ol which are widely used as solvents in paints and paint thinners coatings glass and surface cleaners inks adhesives personal care products and as chemical intermediates International Books in Print ,1990 Safety and Health at Work ,1993

Annual Report - International Agency for Research on Cancer International Agency for Research on Cancer, 1981

Autopsy in Epidemiology and Medical Research International Agency for Research on Cancer, 1991 This important volume reviews the contribution of autopsy data to epidemiological research Among the topics covered are the use of autopsy data in cancer registries or epidemiological surveys and the use of data on mortality from specific causes corrected on the basis of the autopsy report The inclusion or exclusion of cases correctly or incorrectly diagnosed as having suffered from a given disease in etiological studies is discussed The book also examines the contribution in assessing the accuracy of clinical diagnosis autopsy rate and findings diagnostic procedures and time trends in diagnostic accuracy particularly in relation to cancer evaluation of the accuracy of new imaging diagnostic procedures and the importance of autopsy in monitoring the accuracy of death certificates for routine mortality statistics The Epidemiology of Cervical Cancer and Human Papillomavirus N. Muñoz, International Agency for Research on Cancer, 1992 Use of sensitive molecular biological methods for detecting human papillomavirus HPV in epidemiological studies has produced convincing evidence that this virus plays a causal role in cervical cancer This volume reviews the traditional and molecular epidemiological evidence and the natural history of HPV infection The various methods for type specific detection of HPV are examined as well as methods for identifying the presence of other sexually transmitted agents that have been postulated at various times as having a role Applications of the knowledge of the importance of HPV in cervical cancer etiology that are discussed include use of detection of the virus in screening for women at risk of the cancer and also in determining suitable clinical treatment of women with suspected precancerous lesions Postlabelling Methods for Detection of DNA Adducts D. H. Phillips, Marcel Castegnaro, H. Bartsch, International Agency for Research on Cancer, United States. Environmental Protection Agency, 1993 This is the first book devoted to postlabelling methods an important new analytical methodology Postlabelling methods have a wide range of applications these include studies of pathways of metabolic activation of chemical carcinogens studies of oxidative damage to DNA monitoring occupational exposure to carcinogens the association between DNA adducts and disease the possible role of DNA adducts in hormonal carcinogenesis and aging the study of complex environmental mixtures of carcinogens and monitoring the effects of such mixtures on various ecosystems Because of the high sensitivity of the postlabelling methods they can also be applied to humans who are exposed to low levels and many groups have concentrated their efforts towards the evaluation of adduct formation in relation to exposure and identification of cancer causing agents Biennial Report (International Agency for Research on Cancer). ,1994 Bibliography of Agriculture with Subject Index ,1995 HMSO Monthly Catalogue Great Britain.
