Luengo, 2016-02-15 During the first years of the 21st century we have witnessed many events in our societies some of them without precedent at all in our recent history which have involved irreversible changes The attacks to the Twin Towers in New York City the resulting sequence of wars in the Middle East and the international financial collapse are very good examples of these happenings All these developments of international consequences have led to a new dimension of political communication and have reoriented some of its traditional meanings after a very clear dynamic has irrupted in our lives the crisis Many new dynamics have introduced significant changes and altered the nature of international relations the processes of policy making the governmental performances the citizen's demands the electoral campaigns and the geographical tensions among other socio political developments The revolutionary wave of demonstrations protests riots and civil wars in the Arab world starting in 2010 Arab spring the waves of human asylum seekers as a direct consequence of this reality the so called colour revolutions that overthrew governments in Georgia Ukraine Kyrgyzstan and Lebanon the territorial conflict between Russia and Ukraine the intensification of the anti globalisation movements the outraged protests around the world the conflict between Israel and Palestine one of the hardest and longest conflicts to date that has been reactivated over and over the terrorist attacks in Madrid London Boston and Paris or the recent global threat created by the Islamic State of Iraq and the Levant ISIS all this leads societies to an unprecedented present in the realm of political communication Some of those topics are treated in this volume approaching the main questions with the googles of political communication since most of these developments have a very visible communicational dimension This book comprises several chapters divided into five different sections These stimulating pieces of research were presented by 30 international contributors from almost 10 different nationalities Public Communication in Freefall Stephen Coleman, Frank Esser, Julie Firmstone, Katy Parry, Chris Paterson, 2025-05-20 This book addresses key challenges facing global political communication at a time in which transformations in political practice media ecology and cultural expectations both threaten traditional democratic norms and point to potential new ways of enacting political democracy Drawing upon the outstanding theoretical insights of Jay Blumler to our understanding of the norms and practices of political communication but also critically interrogating and updating them where appropriate the volume asks timely questions about what publicness and democracy mean in the 2020s Many people are talking and writing about the crisis of political democracy fewer are talking about the role of the media in relation to that crisis While many scholars have responded in an ad hoc way to the various crises of populism polarisation mis and disinformation this book shows how Jay Blumler s scholarship provides us with the tools and framework to research and understand the changing communication environment systemically and rigorously The book demonstrates the applicability and relevance of Blumler s work in explicating the current crisis of communication and the need for fresh and radical thinking in tackling it The book s breadth and depth of chapters from a broad range of scholars from the East and West ranging from long standing contributors to the field to those in the early stages of their career combine to produce a thoughtful and provocative invitation to reflect upon the concept of a crisis of public communication We expect this book to become a major source for political communication students and scholars

Stefano,2015-10-05 This book represents a significant contribution to the discussion on the part played by communication especially in its mediated forms in people s lives dwelling on the nature of the relationship between the notion of power and the media in current Western societies The media have dramatically increased their capacity to exercise their symbolic force over other fields of cultural production by partly structuring those intrinsic rules values and practices that organize for example the political system or the academic world from the inside On the other hand the media are intertwined environments subjected to the influence of other cultural economic and political forces which in turn reveal themselves to be capable of framing reality through the media themselves Particularly focusing on the topic of the economic crisis the various chapters of this edited volume highlight how the relationship between the media and other forces capable of pervasively exercising their power appears to be paradoxically as strict as it is opaque Social media and smart mobile technologies have increasingly affected the modalities whereby other institutions and organizations reflect on themselves and develop their worldviews At the same time however politics and economics experts and strategists have all learned how to exploit this potential for their own purposes Detecting the opacity that characterizes this form of exploitation is the first step in the acknowledgment of this phenomenon Political Discourse and Media in Times of Crisis Sofia Iordanidou,Nael

Jebri,Emmanouil Takas,2023-04-04 The changes triggered by the global financial crisis in 2008 the immigration flows and the covid 19 pandemic in contemporary societies have transformed the way individuals communicate create content and consume publicly available information Consequently political societal and financial pressures have led to alternative forms of media practice and representations and disrupted the core relationships and dynamics between politics journalism and society This edited book examines the key challenges in political discourse and journalistic practice in times of crisis It focuses on European paradigms and links political rhetoric and media challenges with the societal political and financial crises from 2008 until the present The Pedagogy of Economic, Political and Social Crises Bob Jessop,Karim

Knio,2018-11-09 Crises have been studied in many disciplines and from diverse perspectives for at least 150 years Yet recent decades have seen a marked increase in the crisis literature reflecting growing awareness of crisis phenomena from the 1970s onwards Responding to this mainstream literature this edited collection makes six key innovations First it distinguishes between crises as event and crises as process as well as crises as accidental events or as the result of system generated processes Second it distinguishes crises that can be managed through established crisis management routines from crises of crisis management Third it focuses on the symptomatology of crisis i e the challenge of moving crisis symptoms to understanding underlying causes as a basis for decisive action Fourth it goes beyond the cliché that crises are both threat and opportunity by distinguishing valid accounts of the origins and present nature of a crisis from more speculative accounts of what potentially exists Fifth it explores how crises can disorient conventional wisdom thus provoking efforts to interpret and learn about crises and draw lessons after a crisis has ended Finally the sixth element is the move away from the conventional focus on executive authorities and disaster management agencies instead turning attention towards how other social forces construe crises and attempt to learn from them Offering important insights into the pedagogy of crisis throughout this collection will offer excellent reading to both researchers and postgraduate students Political
