The Crisis of European Sciences and Transcendental Phenomenology Edmund Husserl, 1970 The Crisis of European Sciences and Transcendental Phenomenology Husserl's last great work is important both for its content and for the influence it has had on other philosophers In this book which remained unfinished at his death Husserl attempts to forge a union between phenomenology and existentialism Husserl provides not only a history of philosophy but a philosophy of history As he says in Part I The genuine spiritual struggles of European humanity as such take the form of struggles between the philosophies that is between the skeptical philosophies or nonphilosophies which retain the word but not the task and the actual and still vital philosophies But the vitality of the latter consists in the fact that they are struggling for their true and genuine meaning and thus for the meaning of a genuine humanity

Husserl's Crisis of the European Sciences and Transcendental Phenomenology Dermot Moran, 2012-08-23 The Crisis of the European Sciences is Husserl's last and most influential book written in Nazi Germany where he was discriminated against as a Jew It incisively identifies the urgent moral and existential crises of the age and defends the relevance of philosophy at a time of both scientific progress and political barbarism It is also a response to Heidegger offering Husserl's own approach to the problems of human finitude history and culture The Crisis introduces Husserl's influential notion of the life world the pre given familiar environment that includes both nature and culture and offers the best introduction to his phenomenology as both method and philosophy Dermot Moran's rich and accessible introduction to the Crisis explains its intellectual and political context its philosophical motivations and the themes that characterize it His book will be invaluable for students and scholars of Husserl's work and of phenomenology in general

Crisis and Reflection J. Dodd, 2004-07 James Dodd pursues an interpretation of Husserl's text that emphasizes the importance of the problem of the origin of philosophy as well as advances the thesis that for Husserl the crisis of reason is not contingent historical event but a permanent feature of a life in reason generally
