Europe and the Islamic World John Tolan, Gilles Veinstein, Henry Laurens, 2015-11-17 A sweeping history of Islam and the West from the seventh century to today Europe and the Islamic World sheds much needed light on the shared roots of Islamic and Western cultures and on the richness of their inextricably intertwined histories refuting once and for all the misguided notion of a clash of civilizations between the Muslim world and Europe In this landmark book three eminent historians bring to life the complex and tumultuous relations between Genoans and Tunisians Alexandrians and the people of Constantinople Catalans and Maghrebis the myriad groups and individuals whose stories reflect the common cultural intellectual and religious heritage of Europe and Islam Since the seventh century when the armies of Constantinople and Medina fought for control of Syria and Palestine there has been ongoing contact between the Muslim world and the West This sweeping history vividly recounts the wars and the crusades the alliances and diplomacy commerce and the slave trade technology transfers and the intellectual and artistic exchanges Here readers are given an unparalleled introduction to key periods and events including the Muslim conquests the collapse of the Byzantine Empire the commercial revolution of the medieval Mediterranean the intellectual and cultural achievements of Muslim Spain the crusades and Spanish reconquest the rise of the Ottomans and their conquest of a third of Europe European colonization and decolonization and the challenges and promise of this entwined legacy today As provocative as it is groundbreaking this book describes this shared history in all its richness and diversity revealing how ongoing encounters between Europe and Islam have profoundly shaped both saw a radical change in taste in the art of the garden that led to the development and spread over the continent of gardens inspired by an artistic naturalness A contribution to this process was also given by the Society of Jesus whose members were the first who revealed to Europe the natural forms of the gardens of China The book explores the Jesuits discovery of that world and documents and analyzes the materials both on Chinese flora and art of garden they made available during the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries Providing a picture of the information concerning Chinese plants and gardens transmitted by Jesuits and evaluating the ways in which the gradual deepening of the Jesuits investigation reflected changes in botanical studies and in gardening taste in European culture of the period as well the book focuses on European

Festivals of the European Renaissance J. R. Mulryne,Elizabeth Goldring,2002 Festivals were occasions to which Renaissance European courts devoted lavish resources They marked all manner of state events and were charged with political economic and cultural significance The essays in this volume by an international group of contributors explore all of these aspects of court festivals and address occasions and topics particular to countries from England to Russia Italy France and Germany They illustrate that festivals resulted both in the creation of high art as in the work of Rubens but most often in more ephemeral workmanship Performances could be magnificent though they were also fallible and occasionally disastrous This collection demonstrates that these festivals provide fascinating material for all students of the political and artistic culture of the European Renaissance
