Friedman, Beverly Lyon Clark, 1985 This volume contains include twenty eight reviews and critical essays related to American writer and essayist Flannery O'Connor's 1925-1964 life and work The collection begins with an introduction which surveys O'Connor's career and the critical reaction to it the remaining selections are arranged into three sections the first offers twelve reviews dealing with O'Connor's two novels and her collections of short stories and essays the second section provides tributes and reminiscences and the third section includes a chronological record of the critical response to the writing with positive as well as negative soundings are acknowledged Martin Eden and the Education of Henry Adams James Burrill Angell, 2006-04-24 This volume argues that Jack London's Martin Eden and Henry Adams' The Education of Henry Adams are two of the first works in American literature to embody the motif of existentialism The development of the existential dilemma in each work will be supported through references to earlier European existentialist writers with Nietzsche as a focal point The 19th century fin de siècle was a time of tremendous change both materially and philosophically The dawn of the last century was a time of great wealth and imperialistic expansion for Western civilization but also a time in which the seeds were sown for later military conflict the enormity of which the world had never witnessed before From the vantage point of the post World War years the materialism of the fin de siècle was a decorative façade that concealed from view the underlying reality of the human abyss The outbreak of the First World War changed all of that and the two works examined here anticipated that change Henry James described the underlying reality of the fin de siècle when he remarked To have to take it all now for what the treacherous years were all the while making for and meaning is too tragic for any words Henry Adams and Jack London mirror this sentiment in their respective works by depicting the philosophical turbulence of the 19th century fin de siècle

American Madonna John Gatta,1997-11-27 This book explores a notable if unlikely undercurrent of interest in Mary as mythical Madonna that has persisted in American life and letters from fairly early in the nineteenth century into the later twentieth This imaginative involvement with the Divine Woman verging at times on devotional homage is especially intriguing as manifested in the Protestant writers who are the focus of this study Nathaniel Hawthorne Margaret Fuller Harriet Beecher Stowe Harold Frederic Henry Adams and T S Eliot John Gatta argues that flirtation with the Marian cultus offered Protestant writers symbolic compensation for what might be culturally diagnosed as a deficiency of psychic femininity or anima in America He argues that the literary configurations of the mythical Madonna express a subsurface cultural resistance to the prevailing rationalism and pragmatism of the American mind in an age of entrepreneurial conquest The Education of Henry Adams Henry Adams,2009-02-01 The Education of Henry Adams records the struggle of Bostonian Henry Adams 1838-1918 in early old age to come to terms with the dawning 20th century so different from the world of his youth It is also a sharp critique of 19th century educational theory and practice Twentieth-century Literary Criticism Dedria Bryfonski,Sharon K. Hall,1981 Contains alphabetically arranged entries that provide a selection of critical excerpts on the works of thirty authors who lived between 1900 and 1960 each including a biographical critical introduction a list of principal works and a bibliographical citation History, Historians, and Autobiography Jeremy D. Popkin,2005-05-09 Though history and autobiography both claim to tell true stories about the past historians have traditionally rejected first person accounts as subjective and therefore unreliable What then asks Jeremy D Popkin in History Historians and Autobiography are we to make of the ever increasing number of professional historians who are publishing stories of their own lives And how is this recent development changing the nature of history writing the historical profession and the genre of autobiography Drawing on the theoretical work of contemporary critics of autobiography and the philosophy of Paul Ricoeur Popkin reads the autobiographical classics of Edward Gibbon and Henry Adams and the memoirs of contemporary historians such as Emmanuel Le Roy Ladurie Peter Gay Jill Ker Conway and many others he reveals the contributions historians' life stories make to our understanding of the human experience Historians autobiographies he shows reveal how scholars arrive at their vocations the difficulties of writing about modern professional life and the ways in which personal stories can add to our understanding of historical events such as war political movements and the traumas of the Holocaust An engrossing overview of the way historians view themselves and their profession this work will be of interest to readers concerned with the ways in which we understand the past as well as anyone interested in the art of life writing The Warner Library: The world's best literature Charles Dudley Warner, John William Cunliffe, Ashley Horace Thorndike, Harry Morgan Ayres, Helen Rex Keller, Gerhard Richard Lomer, 1917 Mark Twain: Critical essays Stuart Hutchinson, 1993
