pronounced his decisions with a confidence which a lifetime's familiarity with the subject entitled him to assume Mr Walker's Pronouncing Dictionary and the Principles prefixed to it are master pieces of their kind and seem to have fixed English pronunciation which had long been fluctuating and unsettled This opinion plainly appears to be that of the Public the work having gone through four large editions in the course of a few years The Author not only improved each new edition with respect to orthoepy but added a considerable number of words not found in any of our Dictionaries as well as some of his own forming that were evidently both proper and useful This work after so many degrees of improvement was thought worthy of being Stereotyped in order to give stability and permanence to the pronunciation of a language now spoken in most parts of the known world Having been many years intimately acquainted with the author and greatly profited by the many personal communications we had together as well as by a careful study of his works by which it is presumed I had acquired a competent knowledge of his principles in regard to accentuation quantity and notation Mr Walker did me the honour a considerable time before his decease of recommending me as a fit person to edit this Stereotype edition To the utmost of my power I have justified the confidence that my worthy friend reposed in me having sedulously examined and revised every page of this arduous and important work with no less zeal for the honour of the author the anxiety for my own responsibility To effect that correctness so necessary and desirable my coadjutors Mr Wilson and his assistants have paid unremitting attention and cooperated with me entirely to wish It is therefore presumed that the Public will find this edition possessed of an uncommon degree of typographical exactness This most important advantage will be perpetuated by means of the Stereotype for it is an admirable feature of this modern improvement in the art of printing that the labours of learned and ingenious men will be thereby protected from the accumulation of errors inseparable from moveable types About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
