Alberta Journal of Educational Research ,2001 Promoting Critical Practice in Adult Education Jennifer A. Sandlin,2004-07 Offering theoretical and practical knowledge to help critical adult educators in their attempts to enact critical pedagogy in their own classroom this volume explores critical theory feminism critical postmodernism Africentrism queer theory and cultural studies Picking up on the themes first raised by Elizabeth Ellsworth critical theory and classic critical pedagogy do not get a particularly easy ride None of the authors claims that critical approaches are a simple solution to the tangles of late modernity In every case the authors see critical pedagogy as complex insightful challenging limited and difficult to put into practice But in every case they see critical perspectives as offering the hope and potential of a more just world The idea that critical perspectives on teaching are difficult to enact in the classroom is not new And what do we mean by critical perspectives anyway In this volume some of the most exciting scholars in adult education whether established or emerging provide insights into what it means to be critical and how it affects the concrete practices of teaching adults This is the 102nd issue of the quarterly higher education report New Directions for Adult and Continuing Education The Power of Critical Theory for Adult Learning and Teaching Stephen Brookfield, 2005 This contribution to the literature on adult education provides adult educators with an accessible overview of critical theory's central ideas Using many direct quotes from the theorists' works Brookfield shows how critical theory illuminates the everyday practices of adult educators and helps them make sense of the dilemmas, contradictions, and frustrations they experience in their work Drawing widely on central texts in critical theory Brookfield argues that a critical theory of adult learning must focus on understanding how adults learn to challenge ideology, contest hegemony, unmask power, overcome alienation, learn liberation, reclaim reason, and practice democracy These tasks form the focus of successive chapters while later chapters review the central contentions of critical theory through the contemporary lenses of race and gender The final chapter reviews adult educational practices and looks at what it means to teach critically New Zealand Journal of Educational Studies, 2003

Learning Later Brian Findsen, 2005 This book explores the relatively ignored issue of the social context and dimensions of learning for older adults It combines international perspectives drawn from adult education, sociology, social gerontology, and critical theory to investigate the social and material circumstances of older adults' lives and connected learning The central argument is that educators and practitioners will better understand older adults' learning by more fully addressing social context, the social construction of aging, older adults' interaction with social institutions, the nature of social change to which they contribute, and the social issues they face Prospero, 2006
