Critics Bear It Away American Fiction And The Academy:

The Critics Bear it Away Frederick C. Crews, 1992 What have critics been doing to our favorite American writers One of our most distinguished critics takes a look at how our great writers have been transformed by academically fashionable methodologies and ideologies and makes a major statement in the intense debate over how American literature should be read taught and interpreted

What's Happened to the Humanities? Alvin B. Kernan, 2014-07-14 This volume of specially commissioned original essays presents the thoughts of some of the most distinguished commentators within the American academy on the fundamental changes that have taken place in the humanities in the latter part of the twentieth century In the transformation of American higher education from the university to the demoversity the humanities have become a less and less important part of education a matter established by a statistical appendix and elaborated on in several of the essays The individual essays offer close observations into how the humanities have been affected by declining academic status by demographic shifts by reductions in financial support and by changing communication technology They also explore the effect of these forces on books libraries and the phenomenology of reading in the age of images When basic conditions change theory follows and several essays trace the appearance and effect of new relativistic epistemologies in the humanities Social institutions change as well in such circumstances and the volume concludes with studies of the new social arrangements that have developed in the humanities in recent years the attack on professionalism and the effort to transform the humanities into the social conscience of academia and even of the nation as a whole Cause and effect Who can say What the essays make clear however is that as the humanities have become less significant in American higher education they have also been the scene of unusually energetic pedagogical social and intellectual changes The contributors to the volume are David Bromwich John D Arms Denis Donoghue Carla Hesse Gertrude Himmelfarb Lynn Hunt Frank Kermode Louis Menand Francis Oakley Christopher Ricks and Margery Sabin Included is a substantial introduction by Alvin Kernan and an appendix of tables and figures showing baccalaureate and doctoral degrees over the years in various types of schools Originally published in 1997 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

The Realist Short Story of the Powerful Glimpse Kerry McSweeney, 2007 An aesthetic perspective on the short fiction of Chekhov Joyce Hemingway O Connor and Carver Taking a distinctively aesthetic approach to the genre of realist short fiction Kerry McSweeney clusters the work of five masters Anton Chekhov James Joyce Ernest Hemingway Flannery O Connor and Raymond Carver to offer a poetics of the form for students and scholars At the center of this argument is the notion that the realist short story is a glimpse powerful and tightly focused into a world that the writer must precisely craft and in which the reader must fully invest. Selecting writers from different generational, national and cultural backgrounds, McSweeney chooses writers based on their commitment to the realist representation of experience and their shared belief in the importance and efficacy of the short story form. By considering their efforts in tandem, he develops a means to assess the strategies and claims of realist short fiction. McSweeney demonstrates that when the comments these writers have made about their work are assembled and critically scrutinized, the result is an aesthetic critical model as opposed to more interpretative models that focus attention on the determination or indeterminacy of meanings. He suggests that a fully adequate reading of a realist short story involves the integration of three components: the enjoyment and contemplation of the story in and of itself; affective receptivity or a response to the story's emotional content; and cognitive activity or the reflective consideration of the story's conceptual implications. In individual chapters on Chekhov, Joyce, Hemingway, O'Connor, and Carver, this presentational model is applied to widely known and often anthologized readings from each writer. McSweeney brings into sharp focus the distinctive features of each piece, makes qualitative discriminations, and assesses the profitability of other critical models. He concludes with an invitation to test the mettle of his approach in reading other realist short story writers.

Updike and Politics Scott Dill, Matthew Shipe, 2019-06-27. Presenting the first interdisciplinary consideration of his political thought, Updike and Politics: New Considerations establishes a new scholarly foundation for assessing one of the most recognized and significant American writers of the post-1945 period. This book brings together a diverse group of American and international scholars, including contributors from Japan, India, Israel, and Europe. Like Updike himself, the collection canvases a wide range of topics, including Updike's too often overlooked poetry and his single play. Its essays deal with not only political themes such as the traditional aspects of power, rights, equality, justice, or violence, but also the more divisive elements in Updike's work, like race, gender, imperialism, hegemony, and technology. Ultimately, the book reveals how Updike's immense body of work illuminates the central political questions and problems that troubled American culture during the second half of the twentieth century, as well as the opening decade of the new millennium.

Critical Synoptics Carter Kaplan, 2000. At once appealing to specialists in literary criticism, philosophy, satire, American and British Romanticism, and the study of science and literature, this book advances beyond the frontiers of the established professional cultures of knowledge to make a forceful statement of humanistic understanding.

BOOK JACKET Beyond Solidarity Giles Gunn, 2001-06. In this text, Giles Gunn asks how human solidarity can be reconceived when its expressions have become increasingly exceptionalist and outmoded, and when the pressures of globalization divide as much as they unify. Drawing on the work of Williams and Henry James, John Dewey, Primo Levi, Richard Rorty, and others, as well as postcolonial writings, Jewish literature of the Holocaust, and the cultural and religious experience of African Americans in slavery, Gunn points pragmatism in a transnational direction and shows how it can better account for the consequences of diversity.

Transcendental Resistance Johannes Voelz, 2010. A timely and engrossing critique of the New Americanists Flannery O'Connor R. Neil Scott, 2002 The Memory Wars Frederick C. Crews, 1997

This volume contains two essays by Frederick Crews attacking Freudian psychoanalysis and its aftermath in the so called recovered memory movement The first essay reviews a growing body of evidence indicating that Freud doctored his data and manipulated his colleagues in an effort to consolidate a cult life following that would neither defy nor upstage him The second essay challenges the scientific and therapeutic claims of the rapidly growing recovered memory movement maintaining that its social effects have been devastating Flannery O'Connor Review, 2008 Profession, 1994 The American Humanities Index Stephen H. Goode, 1995 John Updike's Rabbit Tetralogy Marshall Boswell, 2001 Boswell shows that although each of the four individual Rabbit novels confirms this dialectical strategy in a unique way the completed tetralogy comprises an additional series of dialectical pairs that sustain rather than resolve thematic and formal tension Ultimately the structure of the finished mega novel echoes the work's thematic rationale To help readers who are interested in a particular Rabbit novel Boswell devotes a chapter to each individual section of the tetralogy At the same time he treats each novel as an integral part of the more comprehensive whole BOOK JACKET Webster's Dictionary of American Authors Merriam-Webster, Inc, 1996 Over 2 500 entries provide concise biographies descriptions of literary works and articles on literary movements Contention, 1994 Connotations, 1996 Unauthorized Freud Frederick C. Crews, 1998 Frederick Crews's Unauthorized Freud surveys the growing field of revisionist Freud studies and decisively forges the case against the man and his creation Semiotica, 1994 American Literary Scholarship - 1992 American Literary Scholarship, 1994-06 The Critical Response to Flannery O'Connor Douglas Robillard, 2004-12-30 With an emphasis on examining Flannery O'Connor's literary reputation during her lifetime and the growth of that reputation after her death this collection brings together fifty years of critical reactions to her work
