

Comparative methods and comparative sociology

Clarification:

- Most sociology is within-country, present-time sociology.
- Comparative methods are specific in that they address problems inherent in cross-national and/or historical studies.
- Cross-national and/or historical studies constitute comparative sociology. As it will be argued comparative sociology is a sub-discipline of sociology as such.

Cross National Research In Sociology:

Cross National Research in Sociology Melvin Kohn, 1989-05 The development of cross national research attempts to a much needed global perspective on sociological research Its adherents overcome national cultural logistic and linguistic barriers in the attempt to provide truly comparative information on the human condition This volume stemming from the plenary sessions of the 1987 American Sociological Association annual meeting and edited by past president Melvin Kohn presents the cutting edge of cross national research Its distinguished contributors from nine countries describe the theoretical possibilities and limits of this kind of endeavour consider the difficulties of its implementation and present a range of studies ranging from two nation comparisons to truly global ones that are New Directions in Quantitative Comparative Sociology, 2021-10-18 The comparative method is at the core of sociological inquiry and gained new importance emphasis and practitioners particularly after the second world war as a consequence of a large variety of international and global scale developments The contributions to this book regard nations or countries as contextual units of analysis and treat them as variables Theoretical explanations are presented of how social phenomena are systematically related to characteristics of the nation states and these explanations are tested empirically using the qualitative tools of mainstream sociology The chapters in this book can be useful to a broad audience and a range of social scientists who are interested in the understanding of contemporary social phenomena that are no longer limited to national borders but that are transnational or of a global order Contributors are Toril Aalberg Wil Arts Carole B Burgoyne Loek Halman Piet Hermkens Guillermina Jasso Mebs Kanji James R Kluegel Ola Listhaug David S Mason Petr Mat ju Neil Nevitte Thorleif Pettersson David A Routh Svetlana Sidorenko Stephenson Johan Verweij Bernd Wegener and Peter Van Wijk Cross-National Research Methodology and Practice Linda Hantrais, Steen Mangen, 2013-09-13 Cross National Research Methodology and Practice offers practical guidance for relative newcomers to cross national research by analysing and evaluating the research process by focusing strongly on best practice in terms of methods and management It raises a number of important issues for cross national research which have been given insufficient attention in discussions of methods and practice The volume contains reflexive and theoretically based pieces on the development of contextualization as an approach to cross national comparative research on qualitative and quantitative methods extending to the integration of different methodological approaches The volume includes practical examples of cross national research projects which illustrate different methods ranging from biographical and documentary approaches the collection and analysis of socio demographic and attitudinal survey data either carried out by lone researchers or teams of researchers the exploration of internet sources and application of computer analysis to quantitative and qualitative data This collection provides a firm emphasis on methodological issues relating to context values and discourse Comparing Nations Richard L. Cross-National Comparative Survey Research Alexander Szalai,Riccardo Petrella,Stein Rokkan,2016-01-22 Cross National Comparative Survey Research Theory and Practice contains the proceedings of the Roundtable Conference on Cross National Comparative Survey Research held in Budapest Hungary on July 25 29 1972 The papers focus on the theory and practice of cross national comparative survey research The organization and execution of cross national survey research products are discussed along with analysis and interpretation in cross national survey research and the role of theory in the research process This book is comprised of 12 chapters and begins with a discussion on the strategy of cross national survey research for the development of social theory The objectives and implications of cross national surveys are also considered Subsequent chapters explore cross national comparative survey research in areas such as juvenile delinquency and development time budget and industrialization and values in politics The process of cross national survey research is outlined together with analysis and inference in such studies and the role of theory in the research process The final chapter looks at ways of extending the global reach of survey research This monograph will be of interest to social scientists sociologists and social science researchers

Sourcebook of Family Theories and Methods Pauline Boss,William J. Doherty,Ralph LaRossa,Walter R. Schumm,Suzanne K. Steinmetz,2008-11-19 Origins We call this book on theoretical orientations and methodological strategies in family studies a sourcebook because it details the social and personal roots i e sources from which these orientations and strategies flow Thus an appropriate way to preface this book is to talk first of its roots its beginnings In the mid 1980s there emerged in some quarters the sense that it was time for family studies to take stock of itself A goal was thus set to write a book that like Janus would face both backward and forward a book that would give readers both a perspective on the past and a map for the future There were precedents for such a project The Handbook of Marriage and the Family edited by Harold Christensen and published in 1964 the two Contemporary Theories about the Family volumes edited by Wesley Burr Reuben Hill F Ivan Nye and Ira Reiss published in 1979 and the Handbook of Marriage and the Family edited by Marvin Sussman and Suzanne Steinmetz then in production
