Crossed Pens A Gift Of Laughter:

Crossed Pens Jamie F. MacVicar, Frederick H. MacVicar, Peter A. B. Taylor, 1996 dedicated to all the women who've ever wondered what men really think but are smart enough not to ask. Join father and son and two male friends for a rollicking romp through manhood in the 90s as advertising executive Jamie MacVicar draws his miscreant father and sculptor friend into a four year exchange of letters. It's about art, love, spirituality, the craft of writing and a host of topics as wits are matched and insights shared. And in the end it's tenderly poignant as father and son unite through humor and the lost art of letters.

But as far as we know, dogs do not get swept up in nostalgia, speculation or self-analysis. Although they have hopes, they are not driven by regrets. In Crossing the Plains with Bruno, Annick Smith weaves together a memoir of travel and relationship, western history and family history, human love and animal love, centering around a two week road trip across the Great Plains. She and her 95 pound chocolate lab Bruno took in the summer of 2003. It is a chain of linked meditations often triggered by place about how the past impinges on the present and how the present can exist seemingly sans past. Traveling from her rural homestead in Montana to pick up her nearly 100 year old mother from her senior residence on Chicago's North Side and bring her to the family's beach house on a dune overlooking Lake Michigan, Smith often gets lost in memory and rambling contemplation. Bruno's constant companionship and ever present needs force her to return to the actual, reminding her that she too is an animal whose existence depends on being alert to the scents, sights, hungers and emotions of the moment. Passing through wide open spaces, dying ranch towns, green cornfields and Midwestern hamlets, Annick is immersed in memories of her immigrant Hungarian Jewish family, her childhood days in Chicago, her early marriage and ultimate immigration west. Triggered by random encounters along the way, she's taken back to life as a young mother, her career as a writer and filmmaker who produced the classic A River Runs Through It, the death of her husband and the thrill of a late romance. A lifetime of reflection played out one mile at a time. Crossing the Plains with Bruno is a story narrated by a woman beset by the processes of aging, living with the imminent reality of a parent's death, but it is the dog that rides shotgun like Sancho Panza to Don Quixote that becomes the reminder of the physical realities outside our own imaginations.      The Red Cross Magazine, 1918      Crossing the Blue Willow Bridge Nancy McCabe, 2011-10-28 In this sequel to Meeting Sophie which tells the story of adopting Sophie as a single woman, Nancy McCabe picks up her family's story a decade later on a tour of China for adopted children. McCabe hopes that Sophie will find affirmation and connection in China even as she sees firsthand some of the grim realities: overpopulation, pollution, and an oppressive government but also worries about what that will mean for their relationship Part travelogue part memoir
