Dimensions of Fatherhood Shirley M. H. Hanson, Frederick W. Bozett, 1985-05 Chapter 14 Gay men as fathers by Frederick W. Bozett Fatherhood, 2022 The aim of the current dissertation was to shed light on various dimensions of fatherhood In the study presented in Chapter 2 we investigated developmental trajectories of infant sleep from 3 to 24 months old and we examined associations with infant parent attachment security and dependency We found no associations between the duration and frequency of infant nighttime awakenings and the infant's dependency level toward the parents Surprisingly we found that a longer duration and a higher frequency of infant nighttime awakenings was associated with higher infant father attachment security Moreover we reported that a longer duration of infant nighttime awakenings was associated with lower infant mother attachment security In our post hoc analyses we examined whether the negative association between infant sleep problems and infant father attachment security could be explained by an increase in paternal involvement at night however we found no evidence for this explanation In the study presented in Chapter 3 we examined whether prenatal family alliance and prenatal paternal testosterone levels predicted infant mother and infant father attachment security and whether this association was mediated by postnatal family alliance and postnatal paternal testosterone levels Our findings showed that a more positive prenatal family alliance predicted higher infant father attachment security but not infant mother attachment security Importantly as family alliance can be observed prior to the birth of the baby interventions to improve family alliance can be implemented prior to the birth of the baby Paternal testosterone levels did not mediate the relation between prenatal family alliance and infant mother and infant father attachment security

I Have a Father! Dr Chinyere Almona, 2021-06 Many people desire to have a perfect father Some are disappointed by their fathers Some fathers struggle to meet up to self imposed or societal standards of fatherhood Many lives are ruined by the presence of a terrible father or the absence of a good father But we all can have God as a Father This book delves into the sensitive though significant territory of fatherhood It points readers to the ultimate Father who loves perfectly and will go to any length just to be with you Dr Almona opens your eyes to the various dimensions of a relationship with God that will thrill you as well as spur you to embrace Him as your Father This book presents God the Father Whose love for you is beyond measure reach is unfathomable power is mind blowing and His need is to have you call Him Father I have a Father encourages you to reflect and be delighted to declare that you have a good Father in heaven

Social Work

Diagnosis in Contemporary Practice Francis J. Turner, 2005-02-10 The unifying theme of this broad reaching volume is that responsible ethical and effective social work practice rests on the diagnostic skills of the practitioner Social work diagnosis refers to the conscious formulation of an ongoing set of decisions about the client and his or her situation which serve as the basis for intervention decisions for which the practitioner must be prepared to take responsibility Diagnostic skill development is an ongoing process principally enhanced by a continuous commitment to remain at the cutting edge of the profession's body of knowledge but one of the challenges for today's practitioner is keeping abreast of the rapidly expanding body of knowledge contained in some 200 important social work periodicals in circulation Francis J Turner a preeminent clinical scholar brings together in one volume some of the best work published since 2000 each reflecting new insights into understanding psychosocial situations and innovative methods of applying knowledge and skills in an increasingly effective manner Each of the 78 articles in this volume highlights some of the critical dimensions of contemporary social work practice guiding clinicians to address four key aspects in order to craft an accurate diagnosis The first section presents articles covering the developmental spectrum each of which fully explains various ages and stages of development The second section focuses on a range of specific situations helping practitioners and students enrich their understanding of different types of problems they meet in contemporary practice whether they are based in mental illness psychosocial issues or physical ailments The third section addresses the crucial component of diversity demonstrating the complexity and critical importance of truly understanding clients and their lives The last section of the book discusses innovative approaches to practice selected to offer practitioners easy access to the latest interventions for a host of contemporary challenges facing clients and their therapists Broad in scope and tightly focused on the goal of providing the most up to date information necessary for accuracy in the diagnostic process this volume represents some of the best research available to today s social workers

New Directions and Trends in Parenting Research Nicolette Vanessa Roman, Yosi Yaffe, Dorit Alt, 2024-08-28 For many decades parenting has been at the center of interest for practitioners and researchers interested in child social and psychological development The body of research on children s socialization has primarily focused on traditional parenting styles and their related practices in the spirit of Baumrind s and others conceptualization of parental control and power assertion e g authoritative authoritarian and permissive This research has revealed many domains of children s and adolescents adjustment and wellbeing that are affected by and affecting parenting quality but intriguing new parental approaches and types have recently emerged in research literature such as digital parenting transcendent parenting parental alienation overparenting helicopter parenting tiger parenting and several others about which more is yet to be learned Likewise in recent years our understanding of the role played by factors such as culture ethnicity environmental and familial background in the relationship between parenting styles and children s psychological wellbeing and mental health has greatly improved However the question of whether or not there is a global uniform optimal parenting remains controversial as more studies are required to better understand the varying impacts of parenting on the child s well being within different demographic and familial contexts This is especially true for families with special needs children i e children and adolescents with developmental and psychological disabilities where research on parenting styles in particular is understudied Additionally in the present digital era there is growing interest in relatively new behavioral outcomes in children and adolescents such as sedentary behaviors including eating and nutrition habits online behaviors and digital activity vs physical activity These and other important contemporary aspects in children s functioning and behaviors contribute to developmental mental health and further establishing our knowledge regarding the parental role in these contexts is essential

The Role of the Father in Child Development Michael E. Lamb, 2004 Offers a single source reference for the most recent findings and beliefs related to fathers and fatherhood including such topics as the development of father child relationships gay fathers the effect of divorce on fathers and childrens fathers in violent and neglectful families cross cultural issues of fatherhood and fathers in nonindustrialized cultures The book should help mental health professionals bridge scientific theories to application and practice that teach fathers how to positively influence their children's development Adolescence Mental Health in School and University Iman Permana ,Herni

Susanti,2024-07-29 A school whether run by the government or a private institution is established to prepare adolescents for adulthood In some regions some religious societies have established a comprehensive educational institution supported by their religious competencies requirement in their curriculum along with the national curriculum Adolescence is a period of life that ranges from 10 to 19 years old and expands from school to the early phase of university Adolescents are considered highly susceptible to mental health issues Anxiety depression behavioral disorders and suicidal attempts have been shown to increase before the age of 24 There is a myriad of factors that can contribute to the development of mental health disorders in this context including family parenting style and bullying from peers teachers Failing to address contributing factors may hinder adolescents from fulfilling and sustaining healthy and productive adult lives Encyclopedia of Marriage and the Family David Levinson,1995 Provides a compendium of knowledge about marriage family and human relations New Developments in Parent-child Relations Dorothy M. Devore,2006 In the life of a person there are probably no events outside influences or genetic characteristics even approaching the significance of the broad category of acts and actions called parent child relations These include decisions and actions and lack thereof from the first day of life and sometimes throughout the life span They include learning by example schooling disciplining coping skills behavioural practices eating habits communication skills conflict management and a plethora of other actions This book presents new research in this dynamic field A Conversation on Mines, Etc. Between a Father and Son William Hopton,1875
