Dimensions of Western Military Intervention Colin McInnes, Nicholas J. Wheeler, 2012-12-06 Military intervention to protect civilians in danger has emerged as a key challenge for the West This book explores the West's reaction to these challenges and some of the limits on its actions Dimensions of Western Military Intervention, 2001 Western Military Interventions After The Cold War Marek Madej, 2018-10-25 This book offers an examination of the effectiveness of Western military interventions in the post Cold War era It constitutes a comprehensive interdisciplinary analysis of the conditions conduct and consequences of post Cold War armed conflicts in which Western states acting as a multinational coalition were engaged in a combat role as an intervening force not as an impartial peacekeeper The volume identifies and analyses the causes justifications and goals of the interventions as well as the results of such engagements The main objective is to assess the effectiveness of the military actions of Western states in these armed conflicts Apart from the chapters devoted to particular conflicts such as the Gulf War the Balkans Afghanistan Iraq and Libya it also includes chapters in which experts summarise the legal political military and economic implications of all such Western led interventions As a result the book helps us to understand why these military interventions happened how they were executed and what the results were Taking into account the impact of these military expeditions on global security the book offers an explanation for some of the central questions concerning the current shape of international order and power distribution on a global scale This book will be of much interest to students of military and strategic studies conflict studies foreign policy and International Relations Humanitarianism and Third-Party Military Interventions in Civil Wars. A study of their relationship Michael Neureiter, 2020-12-09 Master's Thesis from the year 2015 in the subject Sociology War and Peace Military grade 1.0 University of Pittsburgh language English abstract This study aims at examining the reasons why foreign countries or third parties militarily intervene in civil conflicts To better illustrate its argument I begin with a brief discussion of two contrasting examples the Sierra Leone Civil War 1991-2002 and the Casamance Conflict in Senegal 1982-2014 Sierra Leone and Senegal are very similar on a number of dimensions Both countries are located in West Africa possess ample natural resources including diamonds and gold but no oil and are former colonies of Western powers In addition both Sierra Leone and Senegal have small economies without significant ties to the West are militarily weak and have little geopolitical importance Therefore if we only focus on such material factors as Realists often do it seems somewhat puzzling that the civil war in Sierra Leone triggered a military intervention by its former colonizer Great Britain whereas the one in Senegal did not If we extend our focus beyond material factors one can see that the Sierra Leone Civil War differed from the Casamance Conflict in one important respect which might help explain the difference in intervention outcomes the level of violence against civilians While all intrastate wars are tragic and involve substantial human suffering there is substantial variation in the extent and nature of the atrocities committed by the warring parties Some civil conflicts experience widespread and even systematic violence against civilians such as rape torture and targeted killings whereas in others this kind of violence is relatively rare The Sierra Leone Civil War is an example of the former type of conflict More than 50 000 people died as a result of the war the majority of them civilians The years between 1997 and 2000 were marked by systematic atrocities committed against the civilian population to the extent that some observers called it genocidal violence In contrast the Casamance Conflict was an intense but rather localized civil war Fighting was largely restricted to the southern part of Senegal and both warring parties showed relatively great restraint in their targeting of civilians Globalization and Transatlantic Security Rachel A. Epstein,Pascal Vennesson,2006 Satya Nilayam ,2006 The Power of Stories ,2005
