The Director's Vision Geoff Andrew, 1999 An examination of 250 of the world's greatest film directors classic Hollywood filmmakers as well as independent and international directors describes the visual style of each Film Directors A-Z Geoff Andrew, 2005 Directors A-Z is a visual guide to 260 of the all time greatest directors covering the masters of classical Hollywood cinema contemporary film making and world cinema Each director is given just a page and a single film still that typifies their work The accompanying text explores how each director exploits the cinematic arts composition colour camera angle and movement lighting sound sets and action to convey the recurring themes and artistic vision that run through their work This deceptively simple premise builds into one of the most fascinating visually arresting and insightful film books there has ever been Never have the words written about cinema and its images been so closely tied together The result is an entertaining and genuinely enlightening work of reference Directors A-Z Geoff Andrew, 1999 Covering classical Hollywood cinema contemporary film making and the classics of world cinema this book is a visual guide to 250 of the all time greatest directors Giving a page to each director the book takes a still from a film that typifies each director's cinematic style The words that accompany each still describes the mise en scene and use this to describe the visual and thematic obsessions of each director's work how they use focus camera angle and motion lighting sound and sets and action to create the filmic reality that we the viewers are pulled into John Huston as Adaptor Douglas McFarland, Wesley King, 2017-01-28 John Huston as Adaptor makes the case that adaptation is the salient element in Huston's identity as a filmmaker and that his early and deep attraction to the experience of reading informed his approach to film adaptation Thirty four of Huston's thirty seven films were adaptations of literary texts and they stand as serious interpretations of literary works that could only be made by an astute reader of literature Indeed Huston asserted that a film director should be above all else a reader and that reading itself should be the intellectual and emotional basis for filmmaking The seventeen essays in this volume not only address Huston as an adaptor but also offer an approach to adaptation studies that has been largely overlooked How an adaptor reads the works to which he is drawn and how his literary interpretations can be brought to the screen without relegating film to a subservient role are some of the issues addressed by the contributors An introductory chapter identifies Huston as the quintessential Hollywood adaptor and argues that his skill at adaptation is the mark of his authorial signature The chapters that follow focus on fifteen of Huston's most important films including The Maltese Falcon 1941 The Treasure of the Sierra Madre 1948 The African Queen 1951 The Night of the Iguana 1964 Under the Volcano 1984 and The Dead 1987 and are divided into three areas aesthetics and textuality history and social context and theory and psychoanalysis By offering a more comprehensive account of the centrality of adaptation to Huston's films John Huston as Adaptor offers a greater understanding of Huston as a filmmaker Film - An International Bibliography Malte Hagener, Michael Töteberg, 2016-12-16 Kommentierte Bibliografie Sie gibt Wissenschaftlern Studierenden und Journalisten zuverlässig

Affect Poetics of the New Hollywood Hauke Lehmann, 2019-12-02 How is affective experience produced in the cinema And how can we write a history of this experience By asking these questions this study by Hauke Lehmann aims at rethinking our conception of a critical period in US film history the New Hollywood as a moment of crisis that can neither be reduced to economic processes of adaptation nor to a collection of masterpieces Rather the fine grained analysis of core films reveals the power of cinematic images to affect their audiences to confront them with the new The films of the New Hollywood redefine the divisions of the classical genre system in a radical way and thereby transform the way spectators are addressed affectively in the cinema The study describes a complex interplay between three modes of affectivity suspense paranoia and melancholy All three each in their own way implicate spectators in the deep seated contradictions of their own feelings and their ways of being in the world their relations to history to society and to cultural fantasy On this basis Affect Poetics of the New Hollywood projects an original conception of film history as an affective history which can be re written up to the present day film text to examine the elements of film style and the viewer's contribution to the cinema experience. How do viewers interpret the effects filmmakers create? How do filmmakers anticipate and build on the likely ways viewers will react to certain kinds of stories and audio-visual designs? The text examines both how filmmakers create images and sounds and the mechanisms and processes by which viewers make sense of images and stories on screen. This approach helps students understand not only the basic concepts but also how their own reactions and opinions impact the overall film experience.
