Finding Community Diana Leafe Christian, 2007-05-01 Finding community is as critical as obtaining food and shelter since the need to belong is what makes us human The isolation and loneliness of modern life have led many people to search for deeper connection which has resulted in a renewed interest in intentional communities These intentional communities or ecovillages are an appealing choice for like minded people who seek to create a family oriented and ecologically sustainable lifestyle a lifestyle they are unlikely to find anywhere else However the notion of an intentional community can still be a tremendous leap for some deterred perhaps by a misguided vision of eking out a hardscrabble existence with little reward In fact successful ecovillages thrive because of the combined skills and resources of their members Finding Community presents a thorough overview of ecovillages and intentional communities and offers solid advice on how to research thoroughly visit thoughtfully evaluate intelligently and join gracefully Useful considerations include Important questions to ask of members and of yourself Signs of a healthy and not so healthy community Cost of joining and staying Common blunders to avoid Finding Community provides intriguing possibilities to readers who are seeking a more cooperative sustainable and meaningful life Diana Leafe Christian is the author of Creating a Life Together and editor of Communities magazine She lives at Earthhaven Ecovillage in North Carolina

Creating a Life Together Diana Leafe Christian, 2003-01-01 An intentional community is a group of people who have chosen to live or work together in pursuit of a common ideal or vision An ecovillage is a village scale intentional community that intends to create ecological social economic and spiritual sustainability over several generations The 90s saw a revitalized surge of interest in intentional communities and ecovillages in North America the number of intentional communities listed in the Communities Directory increased 60 percent between 1990 and 1995 But only 10 percent of the actual number of forming community groups actually succeeded Ninety percent failed often in conflict and heartbreak After visiting and interviewing founders of dozens of successful and failed communities along with her own forming community experiences the author concluded that the successful 10 percent had all done the same five or six things right and the unsuccessful 90 percent had made the same handful of mistakes Recognizing that a wealth of wisdom were contained in these experiences she set out to distill and capture them in one place Creating a Life Together is the only resource available that provides step by step practical how to information on how to launch and sustain a successful ecovillage or intentional community Through anecdotes stories and cautionary tales about real communities and by profiling seven successful communities in depth the book examines the successful 10 percent and why 90 percent fail the role of community founders getting a group off to a good start vision and vision documents decision making and governance agreements legal options finding financing and developing land structuring a community economy selecting new members and communication process and dealing well with conflict Sample vision documents community agreements and visioning exercises are included along with abundant resources for learning more
