Disability Discourse:

Disability Discourse Corker, Mairian, French, Sally, 1999-02-01 Why has the discursive turn been sidelined in the development of a social theory of disability and what has been the result of this How might a social theory of disability which fully incorporates the multidimensional and multifunctional role of language be described What would such a theory contribute to a more inclusive understanding of discourse and culture The idea that disability is socially created has in recent years been increasingly legitimated within social cultural and policy frameworks and structures which view disability as a form of social oppression However the materialist emphasis of these frameworks and structures has sidelined the growing recognition of the central role of language in social phenomena which has accompanied the linguistic turn in social theory As a result little attention has been paid within Disability Studies to analysing the role of language in struggle and transformation in power relations and the engineering of social and cultural change Drawing upon personal narratives rhetoric material discourse discourse analysis cultural representation ethnography and contextual studies international contributors seek to emphasize the multi dimensional and multi functional nature of disability language in an attempt to further inform our understanding of disability and to locate disability more firmly within contemporary mainstream social and cultural theory

Disability and Discourse Analysis Jan Grue, 2016-05-23 Disability studies has engaged with discourse analysis in key works both from the UK and the USA While the perspectives and analyses of discourse analysis have proved well suited for exploring disability however its methods have not been sufficiently developed in a disability studies context Conversely discourse analysts have traditionally been concerned with social issues and fields in which asymmetric power relations marginalization and discrimination play a central role e g gender race ethnicity and sexual orientation all of which share many analytical features with disability But although efforts have been made to integrate disability into the discourse analysis and conversation analysis canon the link between the two fields needs to be strengthened This ground breaking volume contributes to this link by thoroughly applying the analytical vocabulary of discourse analysis to issues that are central to the field of disability studies It strengthens disability studies by supplying case studies of representations and constructions of disability and disabled people in discourse theorizes the role played by language in the social construction of disability and makes disability a more salient topic for discourse analysts in a number of gaps in discourse analysis and disability studies      Disability Discourse Mairian Corker, Sally French, 1999

 Disability Discourse seeks to emphasize the multi dimensional multi functional nature of disability language in an attempt to further inform our understanding of disability      Disability, Discourse and Technology Najma Al Zidjaly, 2014-01-14
 Exclusion is the main predicament faced by people with disabilities across contexts and cultures yet it is one of the least academically studied concepts This book offers an applied linguistics perspective on critical and timely issues in disability research filling in a number of gaps in discourse analysis and disability studies      Discourses on Disability Anju Sosan George, 2023-03-31
 Discourses on Disability bridges academic and personal voices from India to address the diverse and fluid conversations on disability It seeks to critically engage with the concept of being dis abled attempting to deconstruct ableism while advocating for inclusive politics Narratives from people with bipolar disorder autism and locomotor disabilities serve to examine how it feels to exist in a world conditioned by deep seated cultural taboos about disability The chapters in this book show how India still has a systemic silence about people with disabilities      Disability and Discourse Val Williams, 2011-03-16
 Disability and Discourse applies and explains Conversation Analysis CA an established methodology for studying communication to explore what happens during the everyday encounters of people with intellectual disabilities and the other people with whom they interact Explores conversations and encounters from the lives of people with intellectual disabilities Introduces the established methodology of Conversation Analysis making it accessible and useful to a wide range of students researchers and practitioners Adopts a discursive approach which looks at how people with intellectual disabilities use talk in real life situations while showing how such talk can be supported and developed Follows people into the meetings and discussions that take place in self advocacy and research contexts Offers insights into how people with learning disabilities can have a voice in their own affairs in policy making and in research      Dangerous Discourses of Disability, Subjectivity and Sexuality Margrit Shildrick, 2009-08-28
 This book examines disability in the context of two areas subjectivity and sexuality in which it has been hitherto suppressed Using feminist and postmodernist analysis Margrit Shildrick explores what motivates the discrimination devaluation and alienation directed at disabled people and argues that the difference that disability encapsulates uncovers a psycho cultural imaginary that sustains modernist understandings of what constitutes an embodied subject Where autonomy is the most valued attribute of subjectivity any compromise of bodily control indication of connectivity or of corporeal instability mobilizes a deep seated anxiety in the normative majority that is most acute in relation to disability and sexuality By critiquing conventional paradigms this study shows how it becomes possible to celebrate the fluidity unpredictability and connectivity already associated with disability and creatively queer understanding of the embodied self Using an analysis that draws on critical cultural theory emergent strands in critical disability studies postconventional philosophy and feminist theories of the body from Merleau Ponty to Haraway and Deleuze and social policy and legal discourse Shildrick argues for the need to contextualise disability as a matter of ethical import

BOOK JACKET      Narrative Prosthesis David T. Mitchell, Sharon L. Snyder, 2014-05-21 Narrative Prosthesis Disability and the Dependencies of Discourse develops a narrative theory of the pervasive use of disability as a device of characterization in literature and film. It argues that while other marginalized identities have suffered cultural exclusion due to a dearth of images reflecting their experience, the marginality of disabled people has occurred in the midst of the perpetual circulation of images of disability in print and visual media. The manuscript's six chapters offer comparative readings of key texts in the history of disability representation including the tin soldier and lame Oedipus, Montaigne's infinities of forms and Nietzsche's higher men, the performance history of Shakespeare's Richard III, Melville's Captain Ahab, the small town grotesques of Sherwood Anderson's Winesburg, Ohio, and Katherine Dunn's self-induced freaks in Geek Love. David T. Mitchell is Associate Professor of Literature and Cultural Studies, Northern Michigan University. Sharon L. Snyder is Assistant Professor of Film and Literature, Northern Michigan University.      Dangerous Discourses of Disability, Subjectivity and Sexuality M.

Shildrick, 2009-08-28 This innovative and adventurous work, now in paperback, uses broadly feminist and postmodernist modes of analysis to explore what motivates damaging attitudes and practices towards disability. The book argues for the significance of the psycho-social imaginary and suggests a way forward in disability's queering of normative paradigms.

Journal of Disability Policy Studies, 2007      Cultural Stations of Disability David Bolt, 2025-11-25 In the disability community, which can have multiple meanings in itself, we often experience poignant moments in sociocultural discourse. Our pathways to knowledge and understanding of identity are defined by life's landmarks, many of which resonate with what thereby become formative figures or artefacts. This mapping of key moments involves recognising and reflecting upon cultural stations of disability. More than being demarcations of disruption to the normative social order, cultural stations of disability sometimes pertain to its very epitome. They hold something of a moment in discourse with which identification is paramount but variously emotive. They may capture feelings of liberation to which we joyfully return, difficult memories that we revisit to ponder, or the nadir of modernity from which we can only hope to learn. In this edited volume, an international gathering of contributors finds and defines dozens of cultural stations of disability in music, art, film, television programmes, literature, sitcom, activism, sport, performance, organisations, places, and events. Cultural Stations of Disability: A Moment in Discourse will be of interest to interdisciplinary readers in disability studies, humour studies, media studies, film studies, television studies, literary studies, gender studies, cultural studies, popular music studies, and related disciplines in the humanities, education, and social sciences.      Understanding the Themes of Disability Discourse Through Reddit Comments

Brandon Palonis, 2021 With the advent of internet forums, sharing opinions in a public sphere has never been easier, especially for those facing marginalization in their communities. Forums offer a neutral, semi-anonymous space wherein people may feel more compelled to share intimate details about the characteristics of their lives. This paper focuses on internet forums related to disabilities, specifically those found on Reddit, and uses Latent Dirichlet Allocation (LDA) to extract topics from the corpus of

3 subreddits r Blind r ADHD and r Disability The features are then put into key term groups that are defined by a key phrase This created category taxonomy is then used to qualitatively analyze the topics of discussion themselves through the posts and how these topics change over time Abstract Disability, Human Rights and Education Felicity Armstrong, Len Barton, 1999 This volume recognizes the importance of an informed cross cultural understanding of the policies and practices of different societies within the field of disability human rights and education It represents an attempt to critically engage with issues arising from the historical and contemporary domination of portrayals of the western as advanced democratic and exemplary in contrast to the construction of the rest of the world as backward primitive and inferior in these fundamental areas How human rights are understood in different contexts is a key theme in this book Some contributors raise questions about the value of a human rights model across all societies Others see the struggle for human rights as at the heart of the struggle for an inclusive society The implications for education arising from this debate are identified and a series of questions are raised by each author for further reflection and discussion as well as providing a stimulus for developing future research The Discourse of Disability Vivek Singh, 2024-03-18 This book explores the concept of disability through a social political cultural religious and economics lens It challenges the categorization of physically disabled produced by way of legal medical political cultural and literary narratives that comprise an exclusionary discourse The volume discusses themes like disability and identity politics disability and the western epistemology disability in India disability and the Indian English fiction and Hindi cinema to question the embodied hegemony of norms and their effects in the construction and history of societies It analyses select literary and cinematic texts like Trying to Grow Fireproof and Animal s People and movies Black and Lafangey Parindey to critically examine the representation of disabled people as freak monstrous and animal The book also makes policy recommendations for inclusive education and work norms for disabled people This book will be beneficial for scholars and researchers of disability studies cultural studies film studies and English literature Discursive Psychology and Disability Jessica Nina Lester, 2021-07-08 This book explores how discursive psychology DP research can be applied to disability and the everyday and institutional constructions of bodymind differences Bringing together both theoretical and empirical work it illustrates how DP might be leveraged to make visible nuanced understandings of disability and difference writ large The authors argue that DP can attend to how such realities are made relevant dealt with and negotiated within social practices in the study of disability They contend that DP can be used to unearth the nuanced and frequently taken for granted ways in which disability is made real in both everyday and institutional talk and can highlight the very ways in which differences are embodied in social practices specifically at the level of talk and text This book demonstrates that rather than simply staying at the level of theory DP scholars can make visible the actual means by which disabilities and differences more broadly are made real resisted contested and negotiated in everyday social actions This book aims to expand conceptions of disability and to deepen the at present primarily theoretical critiques of medicalization

Racing Critical Disability Discourse Joanne Murray-Ormandy, 2008 This thesis began with the desire to respond to developing criticisms of critical disability as a white centered politics I use interpretive methods of social inquiry to study textual renderings of disability politics since text offers a unique opportunity to study the systems of thought structuring the sensibility of any given appearance in and of our world In this way I treat the appearance of race and disability as malleable dialectic social achievements rather than pre cultural self evident manifestations of biology While I remain respectfully cognizant of the many ways that disability has been located outside the realm of whiteness I locate the non raced universality and apparent whiteness of disability politics in the spaces of discursive convention I show how both exclusive and inclusive discursive conventions structure what it is possible to know think and say about who and what counts as disability politics

Disability in Different Cultures Brigitte Holzer, Arthur Vreede, Gabriele Weigt, 1999 How are disability and rehabilitation conceived of in different cultures How can these concepts be made accessible Studies from the fields of sociology ethnology and educational science address these questions while contributors from rehabilitation projects in development cooperation and from self help movements highlight culturally different perceptions of disability A distinctive feature of this volume is the dialogue it creates by bringing together scientific praxis and practical work This book is a collection of virtually all the contributions presented and discussed at the symposium Local Concepts and Beliefs about Disability in Different Cultures Here people with disabilities from both North and South met with special education professionals people working in development cooperation organizations and students and academics from different disciplines concerned with disability and started a dialogue which is reflected in this volume This dialogue which was initiated at the symposium should serve to continue in greater depth on the basis of this anthology The reader has the further aim of carrying the dialogue beyond the restricted circle of symposium participants and making it accessible and comprehensible to a wider public Disability in Different Cultures is an essential issue in development cooperation On the one hand disabilities whether physical mental or emotional can be seen as parameters for the structural disadvantaging and deficits of the countries with so called catching up development They are very frequently the results of hunger malnutrition and wars Thus NGOs are confronted with the issue of disability regardless of the social and economic areas with which they are concerned Another reason for addressing the issue of Disability in Different Cultures is that it is wide reaching even if it is evident at first glance and relates to the emancipatory potential of the topic In exploring the wide variety of local concepts of and different ideas and beliefs about disability it becomes strikingly clear just how differently a disability may be judged In this light disability can no longer be perceived as a physical psychological or mental characteristic that a person is born with or has acquired in the course of her or his life It becomes evident that to a large degree attitudes and interaction with others which are usual in the respective social context form and influences the nature and extent of a disability thereby determines the life of the disabled person
